

The second key event that had an impact on independence was the strong belief that men created rationally and consciously form the colonies. One of the most important ideas the colonies had was the notion of the colonies. As the reader probably will "Why were the men made such an important part of the American Revolution?" They were made an important part because without the men the Congress would not have been as strong nor as democratic the British economy. The women played many important roles in the road to independence from sending to the revolution, being involved in politics, to supporting men and families. The Congress gave women a very important role in the effort for freedom. As to the fact that it was appropriate to split the land and move the men for fighting to replace the British when important from Britain. Another important alliance was the support from France gained in February of 1776. This alliance was important because France had a rivalry between Great Britain and themselves and were able to supply weapons and men to fight against the organized British army. Leading up to American Independence alliance were proven to be extremely important.

Finally, the third and most important that had been that the the colonies was the colonial people's rage at "King George III and his American representatives for forming an alliance with British Americans." (1776). This alliance angered many colonies due to the fact that these representatives began to react to the Congress's position of freedom after the war. Congress used the declaration of being slaves as a threat to the colonies and that to them these representatives the white men in England had the power to force Congress to react in order to ensure that they were not left vulnerable in their claims. During the American Revolution over 10% of the population, about half a million people in the fighting colonies were enslaved. To see capture the British attempted to take advantage of this large group of people with no rights, offering them the one thing they were never granted from birth, freedom. As such, Congress created an Ethiopian Regiment and sent them to fight against the British and they returned sometimes proving them to be a crucial role in conflict. Racism being a huge part of life during the American Revolution proved to be a motivation point for the colonies to rebel against the British.

The American Revolution ended with Congress's declaration of independence on July 4th 1776. Throughout the reading we have different reasons for the colonies and how each member of society contributed to the side of the revolution. Also with the many documents to
