Canada's Residential Schools: The History, Part 2, 1939 to 2000 Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada, 2015-12-09

Between 1867 and 2000 the Canadian government sent over 150 000 Aboriginal children to residential schools across the country Government officials and missionaries agreed that in order to civilize and Christianize Aboriginal children it was necessary to separate them from their parents and their home communities For children life in these schools was lonely and alien Discipline was harsh and daily life was highly regimented Aboriginal languages and cultures were denigrated and suppressed Education and technical training too often gave way to the drudgery of doing the chores necessary to make the schools self sustaining Child neglect was institutionalized and the lack of supervision created situations where students were prey to sexual and physical abusers Legal action by the schools former students led to the creation of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada in 2008 The product of over six years of research the Commission's final report outlines the history and legacy of the schools and charts a pathway towards reconciliation Canada's Residential Schools The History Part 2 1939 to 2000 carries the story of the residential school system from the end of the Great Depression to the closing of the last remaining schools in the late 1990s It demonstrates that the underfunding and unsafe living conditions that characterized the early history of the schools continued into an era of unprecedented growth and prosperity for most Canadians A miserly funding formula meant that into the late 1950s school meals fell short of the Canada Food Rules Overcrowding poor sanitation and a failure to adhere to fire safety rules were common problems throughout this period

While government officials had come to view the schools as costly and inefficient the churches were reluctant to countenance their closure It was not until the late 1960s that the federal government finally wrested control of the system away from the churches Government plans to turn First Nations education over to the provinces met with opposition from Aboriginal organizations that were seeking Indian Control of Indian Education Following parent led occupation of a school in Alberta many of the remaining schools came under Aboriginal administration The closing of the schools coincided with a growing number of convictions of former staff members on charges of sexually abusing students These trials revealed the degree to which sexual abuse at the schools had been covered up in the past Former students who came to refer to themselves as Survivors established regional and national organizations and provided much of the leadership for the campaign that led to the federal government issuing in 2008 an apology to the former students and their families

When Political Transitions Work Fanie du

Toit,2018-07-26 The peaceful end of apartheid in South Africa was a monumental event in late twentieth century history A racist regime built upon a foundation of colonialist exploitation South Africa had become by that point a tinderbox suffused with day to day violence and political extremism on all sides Yet two decades later it was a stable democracy with a growing economy How did such a deeply divided conflicted society manage this remarkable transition In When Political Transitions Work Fanie du Toit who has been a participant and close observer in post conflict developments throughout Africa for decades offers a new theory for why South Africa s reconciliation worked and why its lessons remain relevant for other nations emerging from civil conflicts He uses reconciliation as a framework for political transition and seeks to answer three key questions how do the reconciliation processes begin how can political transitions result in inclusive and fair institutional change and to what extent does reconciliation change the way a society functions Looking at South Africa one of reconciliation s most celebrated cases Du Toit shows that the key ingredient to successful reconciliations is acknowledging the centrality of relationships He further develops his own theoretical approach to reconciliation as interdependence the idea that reconciliation is the result of an integrated process of courageous leadership fair and inclusive institutions and social change built toward a mutual goal of prosperity As Du Toit conveys the motivation for reconciliation is the long term well being of one s own community as well as that of enemy groups Without ensuring the conditions in which one s enemy can flourish one s own community is unlikely to prosper sustainably

Fanon, Žižek, and the Violence of Resistance Zahi Zalloua,2025-06-26 In a novel pairing of anti colonial theorist Frantz Fanon with Marxist Lacanian philosopher Slavoj Žižek Zahi Zalloua explores the ways both thinkers expose the violence of political structures This inventive exploration advances an anti racist critique describing how ontology operates in a racial matrix to produce some human bodies that count and others deemed not quite or non human that do not For Fanon and Žižek the violence of ontology must be met with another form of violence a revolutionary violence that delegitimizes the logic of the symbolic order and troubles its collective fantasies Whereas Fanon begins his challenge to ontology by exposing its historical linkages to Europe s destructive imperialist procedures before proceeding to stretch Marxism along with psychoanalysis to account for the crushing neo colonial situation i ek premises his work on the refusal to accept the totality of ontology Because of these different points of intervention Fanon and i ek together offer a powerful and multifaceted assessment of the liberal anti racist paradigm whose propensity for identity politics and aversion to class struggle silence the cry of the dispossessed and foreclose radical change Avoiding contemporary separatist temptations decoloniality and Afropessimism and breaking with a non violent sentimentalist futurology that announces more of the same Fanon and i ek point in a different direction one that eschews identitarian thought in favor of a collective struggle for freedom and equality The Schenley Experiment Jake

Oresick,2017-04-14 The Schenley Experiment is the story of Pittsburgh s first public high school a social incubator in a largely segregated city that was highly even improbably successful throughout its 156 year existence Established in 1855 as Central High School and reorganized in 1916 Schenley High School was a model of innovative public education and an ongoing experiment in diversity Its graduates include Andy Warhol actor Bill Nunn and jazz virtuoso Earl Hines and its prestigious academic program and pensions lured such teachers as future Pulitzer Prize winner Willa Cather The subject of investment as well as destructive neglect the school reflects the history of the city of Pittsburgh and provides a study in both the best and worst of urban public education practices there and across the Rust Belt Integrated decades before Brown v Board of Education Schenley succumbed to default segregation during the white flight of the 1970s it rose again to prominence in the late 1980s when parents camped out in six day long lines to enroll their children in visionary superintendent Richard C Wallace s reinvigorated school Although the historic triangular building was a cornerstone of its North Oakland neighborhood and a showpiece for the city of Pittsburgh officials closed the school in 2008 citing over 50 million in necessary renovations a controversial event that captured national attention Schenley alumnus Jake Oresick tells this story through interviews historical documents and hundreds of first person accounts drawn from a community indelibly tied to the school A memorable important work of local and educational history his book is a case study of desegregation magnet education and the changing nature and legacies of America s oldest public schools Mastering Primary History
