Chapter 11: Race, ethnicity and Racism

Minority group: A group of people in a given society who, because of their distinct physical or cultural characteristics, find themselves in situations of inequality compared with the dominant group in the society. Members are disadvantaged compared to the dominant group.

Race: A socially constructed category rooted in the belief that there are fundamental differences among humans, associated with phenotype and ancestry. People use physical human traits to categorize races like skin colour, hair texture, body shape. There are no clear-cut races.

Ethnicity: Cultural values and norms that distinguish the members of a given group from others. A shared cultural heritage. An ethnic group is a group of people who share common beliefs and are distinguishable from other groups. A combination of ancestry, language, religion, styles of dress, and history usually tie people into their ethnic group.

Defining racism: racism: the attribution of characteristics of superiority or inferiority to a population sharing certain physical inherited characteristics.

Prejudice and discrimination:

Prejudice: the opinions or attitudes one group holds against another. Beliefs.

Stereotyping: thinking in terms of fixed or unchanging categories.

Scapegoats: common when two deprived groups are competing for economic resources. When one group stereotypes another group. Individuals or groups blamed for wrongs that were not their doing.

Discrimination: actual behaviour that denies members of a group the resources or rewards that others can obtain. Actions

Racism today:

Colour-blind racism: racism without racists. When we pretend race does not exist, it creates larger problems.
