The Armed Forces Covenant in action? Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee, 2013-07-18 A series of Ofsted inspections on Army Apprenticeships conducted in 2013 rated the overall effectiveness as good This was an improvement over the last inspection in 2009 rated as satisfactory now called requires improvement Some 28 per cent of Army recruits were less than 18 years of age Further information is needed on why the Army is so dependent on recruiting personnel under the age of 18 years compared to the other two Services and whether steps are being taken to reduce this dependency Of those recruited in 2012 3 5 per cent of the Army were rated at entry level 2 for literacy that of a 7 to 8 year old and 39 per cent had a literacy level of an eleven year old If as the MoD states it has to recruit personnel at whatever level of attainment is available then it should boost remedial action when recruitment entry standards are particularly low In light of changes brought about by Future Force 2020 it may be that recruiting personnel with higher levels of attainment would better meet the future needs of the Armed Forces Whilst the Committee recognises that some recruits may not be eager to take further academic exams the MoD should encourage more recruits to undertake English and Maths GCSEs which would stand them in good stead for future employment The MoD has carried out some useful pilot projects with paramedic training and should identify more potential projects to ensure that vital skills paid for by the MoD are not lost to the country

The Influence of Teacher-Student Relationships and Feedback on Students' Engagement with Learning Roger Wood, 2018-06-11 This book presents a potential hierarchy between the three basic psychological needs central to Self Determination Theory SDT Findings from the author's research suggest that the motivation to exercise autonomy is an outcome that is cumulatively influenced by the perceived quality of the teacher student relationship and students perceived competence within specific learning contexts and with a specific teacher These findings are the basis for three hypotheses regarding students motivation to engage with learning activities The first is that perceived competence is informed by and reciprocally informs the quality of the teacher student relationship The second is that students perceived competence and the quality of the teacher student relationship have a combined impact upon students autonomous motivation The final posit is that a teacher can be autonomy supportive both prior to and during activities where students have opportunities to exercise their autonomy Such autonomy support includes the influence of teacher feedback upon students perceived competence and their subsequent motivation to autonomously engage with learning activities This research begins to unravel such motivational interplay through an SDT informed model which is used as the basis for discussing the specific influence of teacher feedback and autonomy support upon students engagement with learning activities in formal learning settings The findings and model are worthy of further testing and development as part of the wider agenda of student engagement wellbeing and positive psychology prevalent in educational research education psychology and the philosophy of social motivation
