

In this practical book, you will find the essential features that need to be taken into consideration during gestation, calving and the postpartum period in order to deal with calving successfully.

3 Physiology of calving: normal delivery

Stages of normal delivery

Calving takes place in three well-defined stages:

1. Distension stage
2. Partial expulsive stage
3. Full expulsive stage

| Stage             | Duration                                        | Signs                                                                                                                                     | Comments                                          |
|-------------------|-------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------|
| Distension        | 6-10 hours                                      | Mucus, mellowing, redness to skin. Usually, the fetal membranes can be seen in the vulva.                                                 | Gradually becomes positioned in the pelvic canal. |
| Partial expulsion | Usually 1-2 hours (Rarely 30 minutes to 1 hour) | Abdominal contractions that increase in frequency, intensity, regularity, rupture of the foetal membranes and rupture of the foetal skin. | Placenta being pulled out.                        |
| Full expulsive    | Within 10-15 minutes                            | Rupture of the placenta.                                                                                                                  | Placenta being pulled out.                        |

1. Distension stage

When the cervix is sufficiently dilated, the foetal membranes can be seen protruding from the vulva.

- Cervix progressively dilates until approximately the size of a fist.
- The position of the cervix is up near 15 and 10 hours before the foetus is born.
- Characterised by a specific foaming, mellowing, animal is restless, redness to vulva, redness to skin.
- Repeated series of abdominal contractions of 10-20 minutes.
- During contractions, which are slow, the calf is pushed into the pelvic canal.
- When the cervix is sufficiently dilated, the foetal membranes can be seen protruding from the vulva.

2. Partial expulsive stage

- Abdominal contractions start as the calf's head passes over the cervix.
- Contractions last about 10-20 minutes, but longer and more intense in intensity.
- During periods, especially before, when the calf is in the pelvic canal.
- Increased in intensity during the rupture of the foetal membranes. The "foetal squawking".

3 Physiology of calving: normal delivery

Presentations

Definitions

- Presentation indicates the relation between the long axis of the foetus and the plane which would normally be horizontal.
- Position indicates which surface of the foetus is in contact with the vulva (back, dorsal, ventral or head).
- Posture indicates the position of the limbs with head, in extension or flexion.

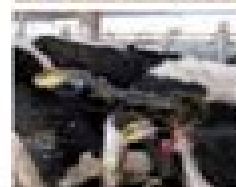

In a normal spontaneous delivery, two presentations are possible:

Head presentation

This is the most common position of the calf.

- Normal presentation - it is born "head first".
- Oblique dorsal position - the calf does not get its head towards the vulva.
- Oblique ventral position - the calf does not get its head towards the vulva.

Breech presentation

- Oblique dorsal position - it is born "tail first".
- Oblique ventral position - the calf does not get its head towards the vulva.
- Posture - the hindlimbs should be when they are towards the vulva.

Normal presentation
