

Stolypin made it possible to buy the land from the Mir. The Land Bank offered low interest rates and state land was transferred to the bank.

In 1905, before Stolypin introduced his reform programme, some 20% of the Russian peasantry enjoyed hereditary ownership of their land. It had risen to 50% by 1915. Stolypin claimed: "Give the state twenty years of domestic and foreign peace and you will not recognise present day Russia".

However, after an initial success with hundreds of thousands of households buying out their land the process slowed down and WWI almost brought it to a halt. Another problem with his reforms was that the other 50% of the peasantry were left out. This group made up an extremely poor agricultural proletariat. A group that was potentially dangerous to the regime. Another weakness of the reform, or the main weakness, was that even if 50% had now bought their land, they didn't consolidate it to single holdings. 90% remained in the commune system and continued with strip farming.

Many of these poorer peasants moved to the cities. The political situation in Russia must be, even before the outbreak of WWI, described as revolutionary. The best way of showing this is to account for the number of strikes in Russia:

1910	222
1911	466
1912	2,032
1913	2,404
1914 (from Jan. to July)	4,098 – a 20-fold increase in 4 years!

Even if it is not evident how many individuals were involved in each strike, we can conclude that this shows that public disorder had reached a critical point in 1914.

6.9 Russia and WWI

When WWI started in August 1914, Russia's regime and the Tsar enjoyed more support than at any other point of its rule. But the war did not go well for Russia. By early 1917, 1.6 million were dead, 3.9 million wounded, and 2.4 million had been taken prisoners (in total this is 7.9 million). It was a disaster.

In 1915 the Tsar had made himself Commander-in-Chief. This had two major consequences:

1. Defeats in the war were now directly linked to the Tsar.
2. With the Tsar at the front, the Tsarina and her trusted advisor Rasputin obtained much more influence. The rise of Rasputin was disastrous for the reputation of the Tsar and the Tsarina. The nobility strongly disliked the influence of this monk and it eroded the support from the ruling elite. Many saw his influence as the main explanation to the 'ministerial leapfrogging' that began in 1915. Rasputin was killed by a nobleman in late 1916 but the damage was irreparable. Robert Massie writes: "Thus, the next sixteen months saw a sad parade of dismissals...and intrigues. In that time Russia had four different prime ministers, five ministers of interior, four ministers of agriculture and three ministers of war...It was an amazing, extravagant, and pitiful spectacle, and one without parallel in the history of civilised nations".

The war also resulted in domestic problems. The regime created 'military zones' where civil administration was subjected to the army. Both Duma and Zemstvo politicians wanted to influence the decision-making. In 1915, a union of Kadets, Octobrists and Progressists, formed the 'Progressive Bloc', demanding a government which possessed 'the confidence of the public'. In September the Tsar responded by dismissing the Duma. In 1916, Miliukov asked, in the Duma, if the government's policy was 'stupidity or treason' and said "we have lost faith in the ability of this government to achieve victory".
