Whether you're interpreting achievement gaps, graduation rates, or test results, you're at risk of reaching a mistaken judgment. By learning about common errors and how they're made, you'll be ready to choose safer, surer paths to making better sense of the wealth of data in your school or district. NWEA MAP TEST PREPARATION - GRADE 4 READING. JAMES W. ALEXANDER, 2024

NWEA Recommendations for Transitioning Students from MPG to MAP 2-5 Northwest Evaluation Association, 2014 In order to determine which test is more appropriate to administer to elementary grade students, it is important to consider the purpose of the test in conjunction with the ability and grade level of the students. Northwest Evaluation Association (NWEA) designed Measures of Academic Progress (MAP) tests, mindful of the amount of learning that occurs in elementary school students and the accelerated rate in which that learning occurs, as compared to middle and high school students. MAP for Primary Grades (MPG) Reading and Mathematics tests assess pre-emergent and beginning readers using audio support in order to provide information regarding the student's achievement in those subjects. The content and the manner in which the tests are constructed are appropriate for students from kindergarten up to second grade. As of fall 2012, MPG tests aligned to the Common Core were added to the standard MPG Survey with Goals tests. General considerations for the transition between MPG and MAP are provided.

A Parent's Guide to MAP. NWEA. Northwest Evaluation Association, 2016 This guide was created as a resource to help families better understand Measures of Academic Progress (MAP) and their child's results. The guide provides answers to a variety of questions such as: What is MAP? What does MAP measure? How do schools and teachers use MAP scores? Can MAP tell me if my child is working at grade level and more? The guide also includes a Quick Reference sample report to help parents understand the Student Progress Report. The Student Progress Report will contain the child's NWEA MAP test results and provide information to show how the child is doing compared to other students in the same grade in the child's school district and across the United States.
