WHO recommendations on choice of antiseptic agent and method of application for preoperative skin preparation for caesarean section ,2021-06-18 There was a lack of evidence to recommend a specific concentration of chlorhexidine gluconate however most trials included used 2% chlorhexidine gluconate in 70% alcohol Maternal allergy to alcohol based chlorhexidine gluconate must be excluded before surgery In women with no previous history of allergy to alcohol based chlorhexidine gluconate it should be noted that chlorhexidine gluconate can cause skin irritation A standard preoperative skin preparation technique that is appropriate for the intended skin incision must be followed As alcohol is highly flammable alcohol based antiseptic preparations may ignite if used in the presence of diathermy and they must be allowed to dry by evaporation It is advisable to ensure that the drapes are not saturated with alcohol or that the alcohol based solution has not formed a pool underneath the woman before starting surgery Particular care should be taken at emergency caesarean section Where chlorhexidine gluconate is not available other antiseptic agent such as povidone iodine can be considered a suitable antiseptic agent for preoperative skin preparation although it is not as effective as alcohol based chlorhexidine gluconate The Guideline Development Group noted that the current recommendation is consistent with the 2016 WHO global guidelines on the prevention of surgical site infection which recommends chlorhexidine gluconate alcohol based antiseptic solutions for surgical site skin preparation in individuals undergoing surgical procedures

Transformation of Archives and Heritage Education in Post-apartheid South Africa Geraldine Frieslaar, Olusegun Morakinyo, 2023-06-10 Although there have been significant strides to transform the demographics of archive and museum personnel develop new museums and heritage institutions and heritage training initiatives in post apartheid South Africa the Eurocentric model of the archive museum and heritage sector has largely remained intact Despite the euphoria around the transformation of heritage in the beginnings of post apartheid South Africa it can be argued that the transformation of heritage institutions has been superficial and cosmetic with the ideological foundation of the colonial archive and museum as well as Eurocentric modalities of heritage education remaining solid largely unmoved and under continuing challenge This is the thrust of this book which reflects on the transformation of archives and museum and heritage education in South Africa and argues for meaningful transformation of the sector through a decolonisation from its Eurocentric mooring
