NASA's Human Space Exploration
United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation. Subcommittee on Science and Space, 2012. Some Mathematical Questions in Biology, X Simon A. Levin, 1979. Analogs for Planetary Exploration W. Brent Garry, Jacob E. Bleacher, 2011. Where on Earth is it like Mars? How were the Apollo astronauts trained to be geologists on the Moon? Are volcanoes on Earth just like the ones on other planets? The exploration of our solar system begins in our own backyard. Discoveries on other planetary bodies cannot always be easily explained. Therefore geologic sites on this planet are used to better understand the extraterrestrial worlds we explore with humans, robots, and satellites. Analogs for Planetary Exploration is a compilation of historical accounts of astronaut geology training, overviews of planetary geology research on Mars, educational field trips to analog sites, plus concepts for future human missions to the Moon. This Special Paper provides a great overview of the science training and planning related to planetary exploration for students, educators, researchers, and geology enthusiasts. After all, as we learn about the solar system, we can better understand our own planet Earth. Women Spacefarers Umberto Cavallaro, 2017-03-02. This book tells the fascinating stories of the valiant women who broke down barriers to join the space program. Beginning with the orbital flight of USSR cosmonaut Valentina Tereshkova in 1963, they became players in the greatest adventure of our time. The author contextualizes their accomplishments in light of the political and cultural climate from the Cold War in the background to the changing status of women in society at large during the Seventies. The book includes the biographies of and in some cases interviews with the sixty women who flew in space in the first half century of space history. It reports their achievements and some little known details. The result is a gallery of pioneering women who reached for the stars, women who with exceptional skill, hard work, and dedication reached impressive careers as accomplished pilots, researchers, and engineers, many are now in high level managerial positions both at NASA or in public and private organizations and all left a legacy of strength
