Lectures on Metaphysics and Logic Sir William Hamilton, 1859 The following Lectures on Metaphysics constitute the first portion of the Biennial Course which the lamented Author was in the habit of delivering during the period of his occupation of the Chair of Logic and Metaphysics in the University of Edinburgh giving these Lectures to the world it is due both to the Author and to his readers to acknowledge that they do not appear in that state of completeness which might have been expected had they been prepared for publication by the Author himself As Lectures on Metaphysics whether that term be taken in its wider or its stricter sense they are confessedly imperfect The Author himself adopting the Kantian division of the mental faculties into those of Knowledge Feeling and Conation considers the Philosophy of Mind as comprehending in relation to each of these the three great subdivisions of Psychology or the Science of the Phenomena of Mind Nomology or the Science of its Laws and Ontology or the Science of Results and Inferences The term Metaphysics in its strictest sense is synonymous with the last of these subdivisions while in its widest sense it may be regarded as including the first also the second being in practice at least if not in scientific accuracy usually distributed among other departments of Philosophy The following Lectures cannot be considered as embracing the whole province of Metaphysics in either of the above senses Among the Phenomena of Mind the Cognitive Faculties are discussed fully and satisfactorily those of Feeling are treated with less detail those of Conation receive scarcely any special consideration while the questions of Ontology or Metaphysics proper are touched upon only incidentally The omission of any special discussion of this last branch may perhaps be justified by its abstruse character and unsuitableness for a course of elementary instruction but it is especially to be regretted both on account of the general neglect of this branch of study by the entire school of Scottish philosophers and also on account of the eminent qualifications which the Author possessed for supplying this acknowledged deficiency A treatise on Ontology from the pen of Sir William Hamilton embodying the final results of the Philosophy of the Conditioned would have been a boon to the philosophical world such as probably no writer now living is capable of conferring

Politics and Teleology in Kant Patrone Tatiana,Paul Formosa,Avery Goldman,2014-04-15 This volume critically examines and elucidates the complex relationship between politics and teleology in Kant s philosophical system Examining this relationship is of key philosophical importance since Kant develops his political philosophy in the context of a teleological conception of the purposiveness of both nature and human history Kant s approach poses the dual task of reconciling his normative political theory with both his priori moral philosophy and his teleological philosophy of nature and human history The fourteen essays in this volume by leading scholars in the field explore the relationship between teleology and politics from multiple perspectives Together the essays explore Kant s normative political theory and legal philosophy his cosmopolitanism and views on international relations his theory of history his theory of natural teleology and the broader relationship between morality history nature and politics in Kant s works This important new volume will be of interest to a wide audience including Kant scholars scholars and students working on topics in moral and political philosophy the philosophy of history political theory and political science legal scholars and international relations theorists as well as those interested broadly in the history of ideas
