Hagia Sophia And The Byzantine Aesthetic Experience:

Hagia Sophia and the Byzantine Aesthetic Experience Dr Nadine Schibille, 2014-11-28 Paramount in the shaping of early Byzantine identity was the construction of the church of Hagia Sophia in Constantinople 532 537 CE This book examines the edifice from the perspective of aesthetics to define the concept of beauty and the meaning of art in early Byzantium Byzantine aesthetic thought is re evaluated against late antique Neoplatonism and the writings of Pseudo Dionysius that offer fundamental paradigms for the late antique attitude towards art and beauty These metaphysical concepts of aesthetics are ultimately grounded in experiences of sensation and perception and reflect the ways in which the world and reality were perceived and grasped signifying the cultural identity of early Byzantium There are different types of aesthetic data those present in the aesthetic object and those found in aesthetic responses to the object This study looks at the aesthetic data embodied in the sixth century architectural structure and interior decoration of Hagia Sophia as well as in literary responses ekphrasis to the building The purpose of the Byzantine ekphrasis was to convey by verbal means the same effects that the artefact itself would have caused A literary analysis of these rhetorical descriptions recaptures the Byzantine perception and expectations and at the same time reveals the cognitive processes triggered by the Great Church The central aesthetic feature that emerges from sixth century ekphraseis of Hagia Sophia is that of light Light is described as the decisive element in the experience of the sacred space and light is simultaneously associated with the notion of wisdom It is argued that the concepts of light and wisdom are interwoven programmatic elements that underlie the unique architecture and non figurative decoration of Hagia Sophia A similar concern for the phenomenon of light and its epistemological dimension is reflected in other contemporary monuments testifying to the pervasiveness of these aesthetic values in early Byzantium

Liturgy and the Emotions in Byzantium Andrew Mellas, 2020-07-09 This book explores the liturgical experience of emotions in Byzantium through the hymns of Romanos the Melodist Andrew of Crete and Kassia It reimagines the performance of their hymns during Great Lent and Holy Week in Constantinople In doing so it understands compunction as a liturgical emotion intertwined with paradisaical nostalgia a desire for repentance and a wellspring of tears For the faithful liturgical emotions were embodied experiences that were enacted through sacred song and mystagogy The three hymnographers chosen for this study span a period of nearly four centuries and had an important connection to Constantinople which forms the topographical and liturgical nexus of the study Their work also covers three distinct genres of hymnography kontakion kanon and sticheron idiomelon Through these lenses of period place and genre this study examines the affective performativity of hymns and the Byzantine experience of compunction Eastern Medieval

Manipulating Theophany Vladimir Ivanovici, 2016-07-25 Using light as fil rouge reuniting theology and ritual with the architecture decoration and iconography of cultic spaces the present study argues that the mise en scene of fifth century baptism and sixth century episcopal liturgy was meant to reproduce the luminous atmosphere of heaven Analysing the material culture of the two sacraments against common ritual expectations and Christian theology we evince the manner in which the luminous effect was reached through a combination of constructive techniques and perceptual manipulation One nocturnal and one diurnal the two ceremonials represented different scenarios testifying to the capacity of church builders and willingness of Late Antique bishops to stage the ritual experience in order to offer God to the senses Natural Light in Medieval Churches, 2022-12-12 Inside Christian churches natural light has long been harnessed to underscore theological symbolic and ideological statements In this volume twenty four international scholars with various specialties explore how the study of sunlight can reveal essential aspects of the design decoration and function of medieval sacred spaces Themes covered include the interaction between patrons advisors architects and artists as well as local negotiations among competing traditions that yielded new visual and spatial constructs for which natural light served as a defining and unifying factor The study of natural light in medieval churches reveals cultural relations knowledge transfer patterns

The Routledge Companion to Medieval Iconography Colum Hourihane, 2016-12-19 Sometimes enjoying considerable favor sometimes less iconography has been an essential element in medieval art historical studies since the beginning of the discipline Some of the greatest art historians including M le Warburg Panofsky Morey and Schapiro have devoted their lives to understanding and structuring what exactly the subject matter of a work of medieval art can tell Over the last thirty or so years scholarship has seen the meaning and methodologies of the term considerably broadened This companion provides a state of the art assessment of the influence of the foremost iconographers as well as the methodologies employed and themes that underpin the discipline The first section focuses on influential thinkers in the field while the second covers some of the best known methodologies the third and largest section looks at some of the major themes in medieval art Taken together the three sections include thirty eight chapters each of which deals with an individual topic An introduction historiographical evaluation and bibliography accompany the individual essays The authors are recognized experts in the field and each essay includes original analyses and or case studies which will hopefully open the field for future research Experiencing the Last Judgement Niamh Bhalla,2021-09-30

Experiencing the Last Judgement opens up new ways of understanding a Byzantine image type that has hitherto been considered largely uniform in its manifestations and to a great extent frightening coercive and paralysing It moves beyond a purely didactic understanding of the Byzantine image of the Last Judgement as a visual eschatological text to be read and learned from and proposes instead an appreciation of each unique image as a dynamic site to be experienced Paintings icons and mosaics from the tenth to the fourteenth century from inside and outside of the Byzantine Empire are placed within their specific socio historical milieus their immediate decorative programmes and their architectural contexts to demonstrate that each unique image constituted a carefully orchestrated and immersive experience of judgement Each case study outlines the differences that exist in reality between these images that are often subsumed under one iconographic label making a case against condensing dynamic lived images into apparently static pictorial types Images of the Last Judgement needed the body mind and memory of the viewer for the creation of meaning and so the experience of these images was unavoidably spatial gendered corporeal mnemonic emotional rhetorical and most often liturgical Unpacking Byzantine images of judgement in light of these various facets of experience for the first time helps to elucidate the interaction of past individuals with the image and the ways in which such encounters were intended to benefit the communities that made and lived alongside them Religion and World Civilizations Andrew Holt,2023-06-30 An indispensable resource for readers
