Local, Traditional and Indigenous Food Systems in the 21st Century to Combat Obesity, Undernutrition and Climate Change, 2nd edition Rebecca Kanter, Sofia Boza, Gina Kennedy, 2023-07-31 Traditional and indigenous food systems have existed for centuries and were in balance with local food supplies globally However between the mid 20th and early 21st century the green revolution dramatically altered food production which in turn affected the inclusivity of traditional production systems within food systems and subsequently traditional dietary intakes This change was accompanied by lifestyle changes and spurred a global nutrition transition Today the world faces a global syndemic of obesity undernutrition and climate change A new call to action to create food systems that nourish people and sustain the planet is needed Traditional and indigenous food systems have long been recognized as systems that can both support good human nutrition as well as maintain a balance with nature There is an underutilized knowledge base around traditional and indigenous food systems This includes the knowledge of nutritious species traditional culinary preparations and cultural practices Greater agricultural production of underutilized species can result in more sustainable agricultural and food systems which can also help improve livelihoods and food security Traditional and indigenous cultural practices with respect to both land and water management as well as culinary practices contribute to both sustainable food production and consumption These practices require a greater evidence base in order to be incorporated into public health nutrition initiatives related to improving dietary quality such as food based dietary guidelines for example An increased focus on the importance of local traditional and indigenous food systems and nutrition could therefore help countries to improve human nutrition and ideally help mitigate the global syndemic of obesity undernutrition and climate change This Research Topic will focus on documenting diverse local food systems and promoting elements within them that can help improve nutrition and health both human and planetary in various ways including the livelihood development of knowledge holders

Women's Contribution to Higher Education and Social Transformation Lucy A. Wakiaga, 2022-05-16 This book provides deep insights about women in higher education and their contributions to society Using Kenya as a case study it places women in higher education at the center of the socioeconomic political and cultural discourse both within and outside the higher education institution It is notable that even with the progress made both in Kenya and globally gender considerations in social economic political and cultural spheres is still minimal In higher education gender imbalance is still distinct in varied areas such as career advancement leadership mentorship and scholarship opportunities In society women s efforts still seem to go unnoticed The aim of these chapters therefore is to share women s research in higher education and in society especially innovative policy and practice concepts all aimed at contributing to social transformation

Handbook of Research on Emerging Trends and Technologies in Library and Information Science Kaushik, Anna, Kumar, Ashok, Biswas, Payel, 2019-11-22 With the perpetual advancements of technology library and information science professionals are tasked with understanding these technologies and providing accurate and comprehensive information to other potential users. These professionals must develop best practices for understanding these technologies in order to best serve other users. The Handbook of Research on Emerging Trends and Technologies in Library and Information Science is a critical research book that examines advancing technologies and new innovations and their influences on library and information sciences for improved best practices. Featuring an array of topics such as digital libraries, distance education, and information literacy, this publication is essential for librarians, knowledge managers, information retrieval specialists, library and information science professionals, information scientists, researchers, web librarians, academicians, educators, IT specialists, and managers. The International Criminal Court and Africa Charles Chernor Jalloh, Ilias Bantekas, 2017-10-06 Africa has been at the forefront of contemporary global efforts towards ensuring greater accountability for international crimes. But the continent's early embrace of international criminal justice seems to be taking a new turn with the recent resistance from some African states claiming that the emerging system of international criminal law represents a new form of imperialism masquerading as international rule of law. This book analyses the relationship and tensions between the International Criminal Court (ICC) and Africa. It traces the origins of the confrontation between African governments both acting individually and within the framework of the African Union and the permanent Hague-based ICC. Leading commentators offer valuable insights on the core legal and political issues that have confused the relationship between the two sides and expose the uneasy interaction between international law and international politics. They offer suggestions on how best to continue the fight against impunity using national ICC and regional justice mechanisms while taking into principled account the views and interests of African States. Contextualizing and Organizing Contingent Faculty Ishmael I. Munene, 2018-02-15 Contextualizing and Organizing Contingent Faculty: Reclaiming Academic Labor in Universities seeks to develop a counterculture that eschews the neoliberal ideology and interlocking market values in higher education. More than merely lamenting the disruptive effects of these marketplace values in higher education institutions, it develops both theoretical insights and practical organizing strategies pertinent to challenging new academic capitalist values and behaviors. Contributors local and international present cases from various institutions to illuminate how national trends concerning contingent faculty are articulated, implemented, and challenged at the local level. They present organizing strategies which are analyzed from an interdisciplinary perspective, providing a thorough and comprehensive view of the contingent labor movement. This book will provide useful lessons to a broad array of audiences in universities, labor movements, and national and local governments. Negotiating Identities in Contemporary Africa Toyin Falola, Emmanuel M. Mbah, 2023-08-29 Negotiating Identities in Contemporary Africa: Gender, Religion, and Ethno-cultural Identities explores the changing dynamics of identities in Africa with a focus on gender, ethno-cultural, and religious identity. Toyin Falola and Emmanuel M. Mbah argue that because identity defines who we are as individuals or groups, studies on African identities must focus on understanding the changing dynamics in the socio-economic and political spheres in the continent These chapters cover subjects such as women s career identity gender roles and knowledge childlessness ethnocentrism and democracy cultural identity through theater Black identity in the diaspora and diasporic consciousness Using existing scholarship the chapters in this edited volume challenge our understanding of what identity entails and provide new discussions on the hitherto politicized historiography of some identities in Africa

Violence, Politics and Conflict Management in Africa Munyaradzi Mawere,Ngonidzashe Marongwe,2016-09-01 This volume critically interrogates from different angles and dimensions the resilience of conflict and violence into 21st century Africa The demise of European colonial administration in Africa in the 1960s wielded fervent hope for enduring peace for the people of Africa. Regrettably, conflict alongside violence in all its dimensions—physical, religious, political, psychological, and structural—remain unabated and occupy central stage in contemporary Africa. The resilience of conflict and violence on the continental scene invokes unsettling memories of the past while negatively influencing the present and future of crafting inclusive citizenship and statehood. The book provides fresh, insightful ethnographic and intellectual material for rethinking violence and conflict and for fostering long-lasting peace and political justice on the continent and beyond. With its penetrating focus on conflict and associated trajectories of violence in Africa, the book is an inestimable asset for conflict management practitioners, political scientists, historians, civil society activists, and leaders in economics and politics, as well as all those interested in the affairs of Africa.

Food Security and Nutrition Charis M. Galanakis, 2020-10-17. Food and nutrition security, identified via availability, access, utilization, and stability, and transitions to sustainable food systems are major discourses in the agro-food arena, as many countries today experience different forms of malnutrition simultaneously, such as child undernutrition, anemia among women, and adult obesity. Meanwhile, the triple burden of malnutrition—undernutrition, overnutrition, and micronutrient deficiency—is still widespread. Food Security and Nutrition explores integrated, context-specific approaches to food security challenges, emphasizing nutrition security as an integral component and addressing the implications of food content to food and nutrition security policies. Providing insight into these challenges through agricultural policy, nutritional, geographic, and sustainability lenses, Food Security and Nutrition is a valuable reference for food scientists and nutrition researchers working in food supply, food security, and nutrition security, and policy makers, investors, and other decision makers seeking to address food insecurity around the world. Addresses nutrition security as part of the overall challenge of food security. Explores contributing factors that impact both food and nutrition security. Presents insights into effective policy development and implementation.

Application and Mechanism of Plant Biostimulants, Biochar, Fertilizer Products, and Other Nutrition-related Agrochemicals Rabia Nazir, Roberto Ruggeri, Joao Antonangelo, Meng Xu, 2025-06-17. Since the invention of synthetic ammonia through the Haber-Bosch process, a significant amount of chemical fertilizer has been utilized to enhance plant productivity. However, the low efficiency of common fertilizers used for plant nutrition not only leads to the wastage of valuable resources but also contributes to environmental pollution and ecological imbalance. Overall, health encompassing soil health, environmental health, and human health calls for new, more efficient and environmentally friendly agrochemicals. The innovation in plant nutrition-related agrochemicals, including new fertilizer products, is an essential method to improve the efficiency of plant nutrient use, addressing the challenges posed by global population growth, resource shortage, and environmental crisis. The updated and upgraded agrochemicals, including plant biostimulants, biochar, fertilizer products, plant nutrition regulators, and other nutrition-related agrochemicals, play a crucial role in enhancing plant productivity and promoting agricultural sustainability. This article collection aims to bridge the gap between potential advancements in both listed and unlisted agrochemical products while advancing plant product interrelation mechanisms behind their application effects Recent advancements could offer significant opportunities for more scientific management of plant nutrition through application effects and innovative mechanisms Products of biostimulants have emerged in an endless stream and have been used more widely in horticultural crops Value added fertilizers produced by incorporating bioactive substances into conventional fertilizers are on the rise in China Organic substances applied to plant production also enrich the theory of plant organic nutrition Furthermore innovative agricultural inputs like coated fertilizers nano fertilizers fertilizer additives biochar and microbial preparation have the potential to enhance crop production while reducing reliance on traditional chemical inputs Advancing Africa's Sustainable Development Alain L. Fymat, 2018-11-14 While many African countries lag behind the rest of the industrialised world in scientific and medical research and development the situation is progressively improving This is why the Society for the Advancement of Science in Africa was established to contribute to economic advancement and sustainability through science research education and innovation This book provides a selection of papers from the Advancement of Science in Africa s fourth annual conference The conference was held under the overarching theme of science technology and innovation in Africa with several important sub themes including but not limited to improving health research and disease surveillance education collaborating in research responding to epidemic diseases with high mortality in Africa and promoting women s interest in science careers The collection illustrates how although the chapter contributors come from various countries and universities representing their own academic research they all share a common interest in advancing science technology and innovation in Africa

Governance and Transformations of Universities in Africa Fredrick. M. Nafukho, Helen M. A. Muyia, Beverly Irby, 2014-06-01 While universities world over are undergoing reforms and change in the case of African universities as illustrated in this book the reforms and changes are profound and can best be described as transformative This book is unique in many ways which makes it extraordinary First unlike other books that have examined issues on higher education in Africa from externalist positions the contributors to this book are scholars who have been educated are currently teaching in African universities or have taught in African universities The book specifically focuses on transformations in the governance of African universities and its implications on equity entrepreneurship innovation quality assurance information and communication technologies ICTs and reform issues in higher education in Africa The book presents pertinent research on governance in African universities in an experiential and empirical manner The contributors of the book chapters include individuals actively involved in teaching researching and governance of higher education institutions in Africa The chapters are based on empirical data including review of relevant literature The book also recognizes that university governance is more than just crisis in financial or economic issues but includes best management practices shared governance meaningful reforms strategic planning consultation transparency and accountability client students lecturers parents and the public satisfaction as well as the role of the university in development The contributions take cognizance of the fact that governance as a concept is facing fundamental changes in the context of global knowledge economy and African local conditions Contributors also take cognizance of the fact that one important source of change in Africa has been the accelerating speed of scientific and technological advancement in learning at universities where lifelong learning programs adult learning programs distance and online learning are relatively new The chapters are also sensitive to new changes in gender demographical technological education reforms social and economic transformations in the governance of African universities The book is basically an academic book for use by undergraduates and graduate students at universities policy makers and formulators in African ministries of Education supra national organizations foreign organizations working in Africa NGOs and CBOs as well as development stakeholders and community organizers

Public Procurement, Corruption and the Crisis of Governance in Africa Nirmala Dorasamy, Omololu Fagbadebo, 2021-02-17 This book establishes a nexus between corruption in public procurement and the prevailing crisis of governance in Africa The African continent is characterised by the growing concern for the deteriorating human security In the midst of these woes African political leaders are known for their stupendous wealth and riches through expropriation of national resources for personal benefits This growing inequality in the continent has become a major driver for a series of violent and criminal activities which have added to the worsening governance crisis Thus the abuse of public power for advancing private gain constitutes an impediment to effective public service delivery thereby engendering a crisis of governance The consequence of this is not limited to the socio economic growth and welfare of citizens but it often also jeopardizes the democratic credentials and objectives of the state

Educating Adolescents Around the Globe Meike Watzlawik, Alina Burkholder, 2020-05-04 By traveling to different parts of the world this book provides a multidisciplinary perspective on the current state of adolescent education and demonstrates how education systems are formed by and closely tied to culture After establishing a theoretical background the book delves into the particulars of adolescent education and its associated challenges in six countries India Kenya Germany Brazil Japan and Denmark In tandem with the discussion of institutions the stories of those who are all too often underserved or left behind are told Despite the diversity of each education system the investigation reveals several unifying themes that transcend the specific contexts The lessons from each example are woven together to demonstrate how the individualized needs of students can best be met in a vision for the future of educating adolescents
