2. Plan to divide the class into 10 groups, with each group having 2-3 students.
3. Write this sentence on the board:

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Day 1

Introducing the Lesson

Ask a student to read the words on the board. Ask who wrote the sentence, where it comes from, and what it means. (In an American history class, all students should recognize this as a sentence in the Declaration of Independence, written by Thomas Jefferson.) from the punishing neoliberal state has risked a great deal to remind us that higher education is a civic institution crucial to creating the formative cultures necessary for a democracy to survive if not flourish Henry Giroux McMaster's University Docherty engages with the secular university in its present crisis reflecting on its origins and on its role in the future of democracy He tackles the urgent issue of inequality with a compelling denunciation of the ways of entrenched privilege he offers a view of governance and representation from the perspective of those who are silenced and exposes the fundamental damage done to thought by management speak Docherty is moral passionate and committed and this is a fierce and important book Mary Margaret McCabe King's College London There is a war on for the future of the university worldwide The stakes are high and they reach deep into our social condition On one side are self-proclaimed modernisers who view the institution as vital to national economic success Here the university is a servant of the national economy in the context of globalization its driving principles of private and personal enrichment necessary conditions of progress and modernity Others see this as a radical impoverishment of the university's capacities to extend human possibilities and freedoms to seek earnestly for social justice and to participate in the endless need for the extension of democracy This book analyses the former position and argues for the necessity of taking sides with the latter It does so with a sense of urgency because the market fundamentalists are on the march The fundamental war that is being fought is not just for scholars but for a better more democratic more just more emancipatory form of life Choose sides Congressional Record United States.
