Important note

Changes in specifications are not always apparent in the user's manual or computer code, so we do not accept any liability for errors in the equipment.

The equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits in a Class B digital device, according to part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. The equipment generates, uses, and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If the equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
 - Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
 - Connect the equipment to a different electrical outlet that is not on the same circuit as the receiver.
 - Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help.
- The Federal Communications Commission must be notified to provide a cancellation statement if it is found that this equipment does not comply with the Commission's equipment with any other equipment in the same class. If the equipment is found to be a Class B digital device, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one of the following measures:
