Blumenfeld-Jones, 2022-04-12 This book addresses the crucial issue of how we value and deploy the idea of freedom that underlies contemporary curriculum studies Whether we are conventional curriculum thinkers who value knowledge development or favor a Deweyan individualist orientation toward curriculum or are a critical social justice curriculum thinker at the heart of all these orientations and theorizing is the value of freedom The book addresses freedom through novel sources the work of Martin Buber on education Julia Kristeva on the uses of imagination and the female male dialectic Emmanuel Levinas unique approach to ethics and more Readers will find new ways to understand freedom and the world of ethical life as informing curriculum thinking It provides a more ecumenical vision that can draw our differences together It helps readers to reconsider ourselves in fruitful ways that can bring more relevance and substance to the field

Society and Economy in Modern Britain 1700-1850 Richard Brown,2002-11-01 For both contemporaries and later historians the Industrial Revolution is viewed as a turning point in modern British history There is no doubt that change occurred but what was the nature of that change and how did it affect rural and urban society Beginning with an examination of the nature of history and Britain in 1700 this volume focuses on the economic and social aspects of the Industrial Revolution Unlike many previous textbooks on the same period it emphasizes British history and deals with developments in Wales Scotland and Ireland in their own right It is the emphasis on the diversity not the uniformity of experience on continuities as well as change in this crucial period of development which makes this volume distinctive In his companion title Richard Brown completes his examination of the period and looks at the changes that took place in Britain's political system and in its religious affiliations

Thinking About History Sarah Maza,2017-09-18 What distinguishes history as a discipline from other fields of study That is the animating question of Sarah Maza's Thinking About History a general introduction to the field of history that revels in its eclecticism and highlights the inherent tensions and controversies that shape it Designed for the classroom Thinking About History is organized around big questions Whose history do we write and how does that affect what stories get told and how they are told How did we come to view the nation as the inevitable context for history and what happens when we move outside those boundaries What is the relation among popular academic and public history and how should we evaluate sources What is the difference between description and interpretation and how do we balance them Maza provides choice examples in place of definitive answers and the result is a book that will spark classroom discussion and offer students a view of history as a vibrant ever changing field of inquiry that is thoroughly relevant to our daily lives

Knowing, Teaching, and Learning History Peter N. Stearns, Peter Seixas, Sam Wineburg,2000-09 This four part volume identifies the problems and issues in late 20th and early 21st century history education working towards an understanding of this evolving field It aims to give both students and teachers insights into the best way of developing historical understanding in pupils growing interdisciplinary field that incorporates scholarship from public policy sociology religion philosophy and many other areas In essence it seeks to understand how humans study and conceive of other than human animals and how these conceptions have changed over time across cultures and across different ways of thinking This interdisciplinary introduction to the field boldly and creatively foregrounds the realities of nonhuman animals as well as the imaginative and ethical faculties that humans must engage to consider our intersection with living beings outside of our species It also compellingly demonstrates that the breadth and depth of thinking and humility needed to grasp the human nonhuman intersection has the potential to expand the dualism that currently divides the sciences and humanities As the first holistic survey of the field Animal Studies is essential reading for any student of human animal relationships and for all people who care about the role nonhuman animals play in our society

Celtic Music and Dance in Cornwall Lea Hagmann,2021-10-07 Focusing on the Cornish Music and Dance Revival this book investigates the revivalists claims about Cornwall s cultural distinctiveness and Celtic heritage both which are presently used as arguments to promote the English county s political status as an independent Celtic nation The author describes two different revival movements that aim at reviving Cornwall s culture but seem to have entirely different ideas about the concept of authentic Celto Cornish music and dance In the first part historical sources connect Cornwall to its Celtic roots with an analysis of how the early Cornish revivalists used changed and adapted this material during the 1980s in order to create a Celto Cornish revival corpus In the second part the book addresses the desire of the Cornish people to express their local and Celtic identities through music and dance and various practices musicians and dancers have developed to do so The Nos Lowen movement which started in the year 2000 is important in this study because it has expanded and newly interpreted the concepts of traditional Celtic and authentic
