The photos are connected with the topic of school. Both photos show students in class. In the first photo I imagine that they're about 13 years old. It looks like a science lesson and judging by the students' expressions, I'd say that they are enjoying their lesson. They look interested and it looks as though they are working hard. Most of them are looking at the experiment and working together. They are all wearing uniform – it's quite an old-fashioned-looking uniform, so I would guess that it's a private school, but it could be a state school. It's hard to say.

The second photo also shows students in a classroom. I reckon they are about 17 years old. It's a mixed class of boys and girls. It's difficult to tell what kind of lesson they're in. Their teacher is handing a paper to one student. It could be that they're in a maths lesson. These students aren't wearing uniform. It looks as if one of them is asleep. It's clear that the girl in the front desk isn't interested in the lesson or perhaps she doesn't understand what she has to do.

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and thrilling novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
