1. _____ We all sat in a circle right in the middle of the cross, where the two boards would have met, where the heart of Jesus would have been. (p.4)
2. _____ The six or seven or ten of us walked/wheeled in, grazed at a decrepit selection of cookies and lemonade, sat down in the Circle of Trust, and listened to Patrick recount for the thousandth time his depressingly miserable life story. (p.4)
3. _____ Now here Patrick is, a full-grown adult in a church basement in the 137th nicest city in America, divorced, addicted to video games, mostly friendless, eking out a meager living by exploiting his concertastic past, slowly working his way toward a master's degree that will not improve his career prospects, waiting, as we all do, for the sword of Damocles to give him the relief that he escaped to those many years ago. (p.5)
4. _____ "I fear oblivion," he said without a moment's pause. "I fear it like the proverbial blind man who's afraid of the dark." (p.12)
5. _____ I would conservatively estimate they have texted each other the word always four million times in the last year. (p.18)
6. _____ Then Augustus Waters reached into a pocket and pulled out, of all things, a pack of cigarettes. He flipped it open and put a cigarette between his lips. "They don't kill you unless you light them, and I've never lit one." (p.19-20)
7. _____ He had a hell of a jawline, unfortunately. (p.20)
8. _____ Cancer is in the growth business, right? The taking-people-over business. (p.32)

Learning Teaching by Julie Lindsay In The Global Educator Lindsay illustrates the need for intercultural understanding and collaboration to personalize learning achieve curriculum objectives and bring the world to our students by answering these key questions How imperative is it that educators connect themselves and their classrooms to the world What emerging education leadership styles are shifting pedagogy and why should we be taking notice of this What are the essential benefits of embedding online global collaboration into the curriculum What are simple steps that educators in the classroom can take to become more globally minded and start to change their practice How are emerging digital technologies supporting this move to online global learning and collaboration In addition to answering these questions the book provides practical resources and powerful case studies from educators and education leaders in the United States and throughout the world who are forging connections across the globe embedding these practices into current curriculum objectives and providing their students with invaluable educational experiences including more Yvonne Marie Andres a California based global collaboration expert and co founder of Global SchoolNet which has been at the forefront of telecommunication based learning Librarian and media specialist Toni Olivieri Barton based in Colorado has participated in and led many online global projects across K 12 levels She was the runner up for an ISTE Online Learning Network Award for creating opportunities for online independent studies at the middle school and high school levels And Anne Mirtschin an award winning teacher in Australia finds and designs opportunities for her students and fellow teachers and brings rich learning activities to the classroom Global collaboration has changed the learning ecology of her school and had a positive impact on her students For educators and curriculum developers The Global Educator is an invaluable resource to support and nurture a global learning experience for children and students everywhere

Creating Vibrant Art Lesson Plans Kristin Baxter, 2019-04-05 Writing lesson plans is often considered busywork but it can be a useful path for discovering what s important about artmaking and teaching This book shows teachers how to slow down breathe and linger over the process of unit and lesson plan writing to uncover how much this process can support them professionally creatively and personally The user friendly text offers guidance for selecting an art project for the unit and then zooms into the nitty gritty of specific lesson plans including how to identify materials for a project and how to construct classroom dialogue to help students develop ideas for their artwork The text also considers standards assessments and extensions to other subject areas Featuring accessible language clear definitions practical examples and self reflection prompts this unique resource will help pre and inservice teachers create lesson plans that are useful to their specific contexts and methods of teaching If you happen to be feeling weary frustrated or uninspired this book sparks imagination fuels hope and gives you theories to support what you know needs to be done From the Foreword by P Bruce Uhrmacher Christy McConnell Moroye and Bradley Conrad educational researchers Baxter invites us to slow down and consider the lesson plan as a creative catalyst to inspire our own artmaking as well as a space to examine why and what we teach Lisa Hochtritt Maryland Institute College of Art An inspiring and playful resource that is much more rewarding than typical lesson planning It will surely spark your imagination with every flip of the page Hailey Adlard art educator Parkland School District PA Teaching Practice: Lesson Planning Y.K. Singh, Lesson Plans in Fourth Grade History M. Annie Grace, Emma C. Monroe, 1917 Pose, Wobble, Flow Antero Garcia, Cindy O'Donnell-Allen, 2015 This book proposes a pedagogical model called Pose Wobble Flow to encapsulate the challenge of teaching and the process of growing as an educator who questions existing inequities in schooling and society and frames teaching around a commitment to changing them The authors provide six different culturally proactive teaching stances or poses that secondary ELA teachers can use to meet the needs of all students whether they are historically marginalized or privileged They describe how teachers can expect to wobble as they adapt instruction to the needs of their students while also incorporating new insights about their own cultural positionality and preconceptions about teaching Teachers are encouraged to recognize this flexibility as a positive process or flow that can be used to address challenges and adopt ambitious teaching strategies like those depicted in this book Each chapter highlights a particular pose describes how to work through common wobbles incorporates teacher voices and provides questions for further discussion Pose Wobble Flow presents a promising framework for disrupting the pervasive myth that there is one set of surefire culturally neutral best practices Book Features A structure for career long growth for ELA teachers including ways to adapt pedagogy from one year to the next A focus on culturally proactive positions within ELA classrooms to ensure criticality in how we teach and how we advocate for the teaching profession Six different poses that are standards aligned critical and expand the possibilities of what takes place in school Guidelines for creating original poses beyond the scope of the book discussion questions for courses and resources for classroom teachers In Pose Wobble Flow Garcia and O'Donnell Allen remind all of us that teaching is not about following directions it's about listening to our students and paying attention to the social forces that shape their lives about learning how to navigate department school district and federal rules to benefit our students so we can keep a job while we continue to honor our core beliefs about education Linda Christensen Director Oregon Writing Project Lewis Clark College Antero Garcia and Cindy O'Donnell Allen have written a book about teaching that I've been hoping someone would write They deftly provide a clear and insightful framework from which any thoughtful teacher can build a vital practice while also inserting a wealth of examples to ground the framework in working classrooms It's a must have for preservice and inservice teachers who care about their teaching Bob Fecho Professor and Department Head University of Georgia
