This volume is intended to expand the dialogue and interest among both practitioners and academicians in a problem area worthy of attention by all The concept of disaggregation admits to our current inability to solve many types of interrelated hierarchical problems simultaneously It offers instead a sequential iterative process as a workable and necessary procedure The papers in this volume are selected from those presented at a Disaggregation Conference held in March 1977 at The Ohio State University We heartily applaud all those who participated in the conference and particularly appreciate the cooperation of those authors whose work is published in this collection Part A contains four papers which define the various dimensions of disaggregation The paper by Martin Starr which was the text of his luncheon address at the conference provides several interesting perspectives to the problem Although disaggregation suggests tearing apart as Professor Starr illustrates with his butterfly example it also suggests a putting together or a synthesis which recognizes interrelationships and dependencies The next paper by Lee Kra jewski and Larry Ritzman offers a general model of disaggregation for both the manufacturing and service sectors After reading the papers in this section as well as the papers in subsequent sections you will identify other dimensions to hierarchical decision making which go beyond this generalized model      Models for

Public Systems Analysis Edward J. Beltrami,2013-09-17 Models for Public Systems Analysis considers the mathematical model formulation to improve the delivery of urban service systems such as sanitation fire police and ambulances This book is composed of five chapters that demonstrate the translation of significant societal problems into a mathematical framework as well as the advantages and limitations of these models Chapter 1 deals with the issue of plant location and siting questions with a brief overview of water resource modeling while Chapter 2 provides set covering models for manpower scheduling as a direct outgrowth of the author s experience with the Sanitation Department in New York City Chapters 3 and 4 describe the delivery of emergency services particularly with models of congestion and delay and of optimal deployment These chapters also present probabilistic analysis in nature since both the spatial and the temporal patterns of demand are intrinsically uncertain The tools used are queueing theory and geometric probability Chapter 5 examines network optimization methods mainly to explore questions of vehicle routing and scheduling This chapter also provides a few comments on large scale models of urban growth these being generally more familiar to the regional planner than to the operations analyst This book will prove useful to applied mathematics and policy science students The AOPA Pilot, 2007

Watershed Models Vijay P. Singh, Donald K. Frevert, 2010-09-28 Watershed modeling is at the heart of modern hydrology supplying rich information that is vital to addressing resource planning environmental and social problems Even in light of this important role many books relegate the subject to a single chapter while books devoted to modeling focus only on a specific area of application Recognizing the
