IT services are prevalent throughout virtually all businesses. Most enterprises and many government functions are totally dependent upon reliable and responsive IT services to underpin vital business community and social functions. IT services have become mainstream and managing them to deliver value is the core message of ITIL V3 and the emphasis in ITIL V3 on service catalogue management is a direct result of the growing requirement for business and IT to work together sharing data information and knowledge about demand for services, service capabilities and patterns of business activity. The Service Catalogue Management process is now a very important management field complete with its own terminology and vital concepts. This study guide outlines the concepts and principles underlying the service catalogue, discusses a project plan approach and reporting considerations, describes the value of a sound business case and the key relationships and touch points in the service catalogue management process.

Project Management for Libraries Robin A. Buser, Miriam Pollack, 2014-10-16

Library work often involves coordinating projects with many tasks and many stakeholders where cost and time limitations can be seen as opportunities. Effective project management is worth learning. This book provides library staffers at every level whether in public academic school or special libraries with the basic tools of project management so that they can gain confidence and an expectation of success. Part I covers the terminology, the philosophy, the resource management and the return on investment of project management. Part II introduces the basics of the methodology designed by the Project Management Institute. Part III discusses practical techniques for specific types of library projects, gives an introduction to agile management, features success stories in library project management and describes available software. The book includes many examples of project management. Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here.

Project Report from the year 2012 in the subject Library Science, Information Documentation Science, printed single sided, grade Kampala International University, Dar es Salaam College, computer studies course, none language English.

comment: I undertook this project together with my student and friend mwadawa sadallar. She was very supportive especially in the design of the system. Finally she graduated with a degree of IT. I have a degree in computer science, masters of MIS and am currently pursuing a PhD of information systems. Am a lecturer of Artificial intelligence, compiler construction, programming.

and information systems abstract For many years universities colleges have used file based manual system to manage library use Whereas this was quite efficient for some time due to the expansion of the library and increase in the number of students the system wastes a lot of time especially when searching for a particular book or resource In response to this problem more librarians have been added employed and this has escalated the cost of managing the library This inefficiency led to the study that was aimed at automating the book keeping function of the library A study was carried out at Kampala International University Dar salaam Campus and it was discovered that the manual system had inefficiencies ranging from time wastage high cost of operation in terms of human resources long search time data redundancy among others A computer based library management system was developed using visual studio The new system allows the user to add books into the system search for books from the system database track member information manage borrowing among others By automating library operations the university will enjoy the advantages of using databases and transaction processing systems
