

Lab Report Template

Title: * a brief, concise, yet descriptive title

Problem:

- * What question(s) are you trying to answer?
- * Include any preliminary observations or background information about the subject.

Hypothesis:

- * Write a possible solution for the problem.
- * Make sure this possible solution is a complete sentence.
- * Make sure the statement is testable, as if this statement is recommended to illustrate what criteria will support your hypothesis (and what data would not support the hypothesis).

Materials:

- * Make a list of ALL items used in the lab.

Procedure:

- * Write a paragraph (complete sentences) which explains what you did in the lab as a short summary.
- * Add details (step-by-step) of your procedure in such a way that anyone else could repeat the experiment. BE VERY CERTAIN TO BE PRECISE.

Results (Data):

- * This section should include any data tables, observations, or additional notes you make during the lab.
- * You may attach a separate sheet(s) if necessary.
- * All tables, graphs and charts should be labeled appropriately.

Conclusions:

- * Accept or reject your hypothesis.
- * EXPLAIN why you accepted or rejected your hypothesis using data from the lab.
- * Include a summary of the data - averages, highest, lowest, etc. to help the reader understand your results. Try not to copy your data here, you should summarize and reference ONLY information.
- * List one thing you learned and describe how it applies to a real-life situation.
- * Discuss possible errors that could have occurred in the collection of the data (experimental error).

Writing With Skill, Level 3: Student Workbook Susan Wise Bauer, 2014-11-16 This third volume of the groundbreaking writing series prepares students for advanced work in rhetoric and composition. Straightforward detailed instructions lead students through brainstorming, researching and constructing original compositions. Building on the first two levels of Writing With Skill, Level 3 reinforces skills in original composition and introduces new skills in researching, organizing and writing expository essays. Models from great writers provide inspiration. Assignments in history, science, biography and literature expand the student's horizons. This third level is marked by a focus on writing about cause and effect as well as more advanced instruction in literary criticism, science writing, descriptions and paragraph construction. Time-tested classical techniques, the imitation and analysis of great writers, combine with original essay assignments. Along with the accompanying Instructor Guide, this Level Three Student Workbook provides a complete year of advanced middle grade writing instruction.

Inquiry: The Key to Exemplary Science Robert Yager, 2009-06-17 The Idea of a Writing Laboratory Neal Lerner, 2009-07-09 The Idea of a Writing Laboratory is a book about possibilities about teaching and learning to write in ways that can transform both teachers and students. Author Neal Lerner explores higher education's rich history of writing instruction in classrooms, writing centers and science laboratories. By tracing the roots of writing and science educators' recognition that the method of the lab, hands-on student activity, is essential to learning, Lerner offers the hope that the idea of a writing laboratory will be fully realized more than a century after both fields began the experiment. Beginning in the late nineteenth century, writing instructors and science teachers recognized that mass instruction was inadequate for a burgeoning non-traditional student population and that experimental or laboratory methods could prove to be more effective. Lerner traces the history of writing instruction via laboratory methods and examines its successes and failures through case studies of individual programs and larger reform initiatives. Contrasting the University of Minnesota General College Writing Laboratory with the Dartmouth College Writing Clinic, for example, Lerner offers a cautionary tale of the fine line between experimenting with teaching students to write and curing the students of the disease of bad writing. The history of writing within science education also winds its way through Lerner's engaging work, presenting the pedagogical origins of laboratory methods to offer educators in science, in addition to those in writing studies, possibilities for long-sought-after reform. The Idea of a Writing Laboratory compels readers and writers to don those white coats and safety glasses and discover what works and asserts that teaching writing as an experiment in what is possible is a way of offering meaning-making opportunities for students no matter the subject matter. It is an endeavor worth the struggle.

Writing Instruction That Works Arthur N. Applebee,Judith A. Langer,2015-04-25 Backed by solid research Writing Instruction That Works answers the following question What is writing instruction today and what can it be tomorrow This up to date comprehensive book identifies areas of concern for the ways that writing is being taught in todays secondary schools The authors offer far reaching direction for improving writing instruction that assist both student literacy and subject learning They provide many examples of successful writing practices in each of the four core academic subjects English mathematics science and social studies history along with guidance for meeting the Common Core standards The text also includes sections on Technology and the Teaching of Writing and English Language Learners CHEMISTRY EXPERIMENTS James Signorelli,2014-09-19 Gifted and talented students and any student interested in pursuing a science major in college needs a rigorous program to prepare them while they are still in high school This book utilizes a format where the application of several disciplines science math and language arts principles are mandated Each lab concludes with either an essay or a detailed analysis of what happened and why it happened This format is based on the expectations of joining a university program or becoming an industrial science professional The ideal student lab report would be written in a lab research notebook and then the essay or final analysis is done on a word processor to allow for repeat editing and corrections The research notebook has all graph pages a title section and a place for the students and their assistants to sign and witness that exercise The basic mechanics of the lab report title purpose procedure diagrams data table math and calculations observations and graphs are handwritten into the book The conclusion is done on a word processor MS Word which allows the instructor to guide the student in writing and editing a complete essay using the MLA format When the final copy is completed the essay is printed and inserted into the lab notebook for grading At the end of the term the student has all their labs in one place for future reference These lab notebooks can be obtained for as little as 3 00 per book This is money well spent In our district the Board of Education buys the books for each student The BOE sees these books as expendable but necessary materials for all science and engineering instruction
