for new and practising lecturers and researchers takes a rare insider's look at the activities of writing and publishing. Turning the spotlight inwards, it examines how and why professionals communicate with each other through writing and publishing. Written with great verve and pace, the author succeeds in providing sensible advice bolstered by many illustrative examples, case studies and anecdotes. For the academic needing insight into the serious business of getting published, this book will provide answers to many of their frequent questions: Why do they write and publish? Who are they writing for? What channels of communication are available for their writing? Who controls these channels? How can they successfully submit articles and papers to journals and newspapers? contribute chapters to books or approach publishers with book proposals? Developed from a series of seminars on the subject by the author, this book will be an enjoyable and informative guide to anyone with an interest in getting their work published.

How to Get Published in the Best Entrepreneurship Journals Alain Fayolle, Mike Wright, 2014-01-31 Competition to publish in the top journals is fierce. This book provides entrepreneurship researchers with relevant material and insights to support them in their efforts to publish their research in the most prestigious entrepreneurship outlets.

How NOT to Get Published Claire Gillman, 2013-09-27 There are many brilliant books out there which have not been published because their author has not been able to successfully navigate the minefield that is finding a publisher. In many cases, authors make basic mistakes in their submissions which ensure that they do not even get read by the correct person. Even if they do reach someone with decision-making power, they often fail to clearly explain the proposition of their book or the target market. Claire Gilman is the perfect person to help you find a publisher for your manuscript. She has done it successfully, having had twenty of her own books published. She has spoken to many commissioning editors and agents about what they look for and look to avoid in a submission. And she has worked as a literary consultant, helping all sorts of authors to improve their proposals. Now she combines all this wisdom into one book, explaining clearly 50 common mistakes which authors make and how you can avoid them and ensure that your work receives the attention and the publisher that it deserves.

How to Get Published Lisa Saunders, 2013-12-10 This guide is meant to be a starting point for you; it is based entirely on what has worked for the author, Lisa Saunders. Lisa shares her experiences getting published and how her writing hobby eventually led to a professional career as a writer. She will also briefly address the publishing process associated with short stories, non-fiction, children's fiction, and memoirs. Although she has never written an adult novel, many of the principles still apply. Self-publishing is an increasingly popular alternative, so she will discuss that option as well, especially since print-on-demand books can now cost nothing to produce. Self-publishing can sometimes lead to landing a traditional publisher.
