Marine Corps,1949 Overlooking the River Mourne Michael Cox,2006 The close ties between the people and the land in Ulster has only within the last two generations been replaced by a more urban modern lifestyle This study of the farms and farming families on two thousand acres of hilly terrain in two adjacent townlands Edmore and Cavanlee south east of Strabane overlooking the river Mourne is a model in local studies The story is based on research in one of the greatest collections of estate records in Britain or Ireland the Abercorn Papers in the Public Record Office of Northern Ireland Before 1600 the land belonged to the great O'Neill clan After the Plantation it was granted to the Abercorn family and the land divided into small farms and over the ensuing centuries the farmers created well run and profitable mixed farms At the beginning of the twentieth century families at last had the chance to own the land their forebears had as tenants tilled for generations Some farms expanded some stayed the same size what links them all is that the family unit remained as the cement that held them together and bound them to the land The development of the farms and the lives of four of the longest surviving families are retraced in absorbing detail so too is the social fabric which linked town and country Strabane less than an hour's walk away was a focal point for markets education and social activities The writer's own family connections with the townlands over the last fifty years provide the homely touch that gives this book such a distinctive charm Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States.
