Bridging Educational Leadership, Curriculum Theory and Didaktik Michael Uljens, Rose M. Ylimaki, 2017-10-04 This book is open access under a CC BY 4.0 license This volume argues for the need of a common ground that bridges leadership studies curriculum theory and Didaktik It proposes a non-affirmative education theory and its core concepts along with discursive institutionalism as an analytical tool to bridge these fields It concludes with implications of its coherent theoretical framing for future empirical research Recent neoliberal policies and transnational governance practices point toward new tensions in nation-state education These challenges affect governance leadership and curriculum involving changes in aims and values that demand coherence Yet the traditionally disparate fields of educational leadership curriculum theory and Didaktik have developed separately both in terms of approaches to theory and theorizing in USA Europe and Asia and in the ways in which these theoretical traditions have informed empirical studies over time An additional aspect is that modern education theory was developed in relation to nation-state education which in the meantime has become more complicated due to issues of globalism This volume examines the current state of affairs and addresses the issues involved In doing so it opens up a space for a renewed and thoughtful dialogue to rethink and re-theorize these traditions with non-affirmative education theory moving beyond social reproduction and social transformation perspectives

Language and Discourse in Special Education Iris

Manor-Binyamini, 2014-07-18 This book examines the words and discourse as well as their meaning and impact on the everyday culture of a multidisciplinary team at a school for students with mental disabilities. The book examines the organizational, social, professional, and emotional experiences of team members from such disciplines as child and school psychology, special education, therapy, e.g., occupational speech, social work, and pediatric medicine within a special education school. It explores the ways in which team members describe and interpret the day-to-day requirements of working effectively in a special education school using their own language and discourse from a subjective point of view. In addition, the book analyzes and interprets the influence of language and discourse on the outlook, behavior patterns, and the coping of team members working in the school with the students, among themselves as a team, and with the difficulties and dilemmas that concern them, as well as the solutions that they themselves introduce for all these issues. This book, with its focus on the unique and complex work environment of the multidisciplinary special education team, is essential reading for researchers, professionals, and graduate students in child and school psychology, therapeutic disciplines, e.g., occupational speech, social work, pediatric medicine, and allied mental health and medical fields.

Becoming a Teacher: Knowledge, Skills and Issues Maggie Clarke, Sharon Pittaway, 2014-04-23 Marsh's Becoming a Teacher 6e continues to offer pre-service teachers a practical and user-friendly guide to learning to teach that students find invaluable throughout their entire degree. Marsh covers a comprehensive introduction to teaching methodology, preparing pre-service teachers for the challenges they face in a 21st-century classroom. All chapters in this new edition have been updated with new approaches and current references by the two new authors, Maggie Clarke and Sharon Pittaway. The approach in this 6th edition is more reflective and gives readers an even greater opportunity to interact with issues raised in the text.

Creating the Curriculum Dominic Wyse, 2013 Is there an ideal primary school curriculum? Who should decide what the curriculum is? Should teachers have autonomy over how they teach? The curriculum is the heart of what teachers teach and learners learn; effective teaching is only possible with an effective curriculum. Yet in spite of its importance, there has been a crisis in curriculum that has been caused in large part by governments assuming direct control over the curriculum, assessment, and increasingly, pedagogy. Creating the Curriculum tackles this thorny issue head-on, challenging student and practising primary school teachers to think critically about past and present issues and to engage with a new wave of curriculum thinking and development. Considering curriculum construction and its impact on teaching and learning in the four countries of the UK, key issues considered include who should decide the curriculum, its aims, and its values; the extent to which issues in primary education swing back and forth; subjects versus thematic organisation; stages and phases; progression, breadth, and balance; prescription versus teacher autonomy; the key features of effective classroom practice; strategies for assessing the whole curriculum; how language in the classroom influences curriculum design; understanding curricula in the context of children's social and personal circumstances; creativity; curriculum and the classroom. Illustrated throughout with strategies and case studies from the classroom Creating the Curriculum accessibly links the latest research and evidence with concrete examples of good practice It is a timely exploration of what makes an effective and meaningful curriculum and how teachers can bring new relevance motivation and powerful values to what they teach Qualitative Research and Transformative Results Jessy Jaison,2018-04-19 An immensely valuable resource for those who seek to do qualitative research in theological education Jessy Jaison s Qualitative Research and Transformative Results calls for the holistic transformation of the church and society by helping researchers and their mentors develop capacities that will be up to the task This masterful work informs and inspires researchers to explore the qualitative domain in theological research as a vital link between the academy and the world Bringing a fresh perspective to theological study in human socio cultural environments through eight comprehensive chapters it offers theoretical and practical guidance on every aspect of qualitative inquiry Leadership in Diverse Learning Contexts Greer Johnson,Neil Dempster,2016-04-29 This book presents the outcomes of research and practical endeavour in some of the diverse contexts in which learning takes place classrooms schools professional development settings community projects and service sector agencies It invites the reader to engage with two related questions of contemporary concern in the leadership field What can we learn about the important influence of different contexts on leadership practice and how are people brought together as collective human agents in different patterns of distributive leadership In doing so this collection emphasises three of the critical concepts at play when leadership is viewed not as position but as activity The three concepts are purpose context and human agency When this view of leadership is understood it is always about achieving shared goals with people power no matter the circumstances in which they are gathered together Resources in Education ,2001-04
