

The control head

The control head consists of a “control” plastic shut off valve 1 inch (gate or ball valve), and a 1 inch plastic (PP) line filter, screen or disk type, 120 mesh. The control valve is connected directly to the tank outlet and then the filter is installed.

The water pipelines

The water pipelines 20 mm, 25 mm, or 32 mm size black PE pipes PN 2.5 Bars, 50 m to 75 m long according to the size and/or the shape of the land. They serve as main and as laterals laid along the borderline of the field. The very few pipe connector fittings needed are polypropylene quick release compression type. Small size plastic start connectors (adaptors), barbed type, are inserted to the lateral pipelines at spacing according to the rows of the crop for feeding the dripper lines.

The dripper lines

The dripper lines are integrated drip-lines 8 mm or 12 mm size, made of a mixture of Low and Linear density PE to ISO 9260/61, with wall thickness 0.6 mm to 0.9 mm (24 mil–35 mil). The built-in point source dripper emitters are labyrinth type with wide water passages and protection filter to avoid clogging. They are normally spaced at 30 cm frequent intervals. The dripper discharge ranges from 0.5–0.7 liters/h at 1 meter pressure head and from 0.65–0.95 liters/h at 2 m pressure head, depending on the dripper. The average recommended length of the dripper line at 1 meter pressure head, on relatively level ground, is 12–15 m for the 8 mm size and 25–30 m for the 12 mm sizes. They are laid along the rows and push-fit connected to the water pipelines. The total length of the dripper lines for approximately 500 m² lands is around 500 m.

Very often the use of a small pump is essential when there is a number of neighboring farmers with water rights from the same well. In such cases larger tanks for each individual farmer are recommended.

IRRIGATION SCHEDULING

Irrigation requirements

One of the practical difficulties in the concept of the AMT is how much water and when to apply it. The total irrigation water requirements of a certain crop are always the same and depend on the climatic conditions,
