Handbook on Ingredients for Aquaculture Feeds J.W. Hertrampf, F. Piedad-Pascual, 2012-12-06 Current growth in global aquaculture is paralleled by an equally significant increase in companies involved in aquafeed manufacture Latest information has identified over 1 200 such companies not including those organizations in production of a variety of other materials i e vitamins minerals and therapeutics all used in varying degrees in proper feed formulation Aquaculture industries raising particular economically valued species i e penaeid shrimps and salmonids are making major demands on feed ingredients while relatively new industries such as tilapia farming portend a significant acceleration in demand for properly formulated aquafeeds by the end of the present decade and into the next century As requirements for aquafeeds increase shortages are anticipated in various ingredients especially widely used

proteinaceous resources such as fish meal A variety of other proteinaceous commodities are being considered as partial or complete replacement for fish meal especially use of plant protein sources such as soybean meal In the past five years vegetable protein meal production has increased 10% while fish meal production has dropped over 50% since 1989 largely attributed to overfishing and serious decline in wild stock Throughout fisheries processing industries traditional concepts as waste have given way to more prudent approaches emphasizing total by product recovery Feed costs are a major consideration in aquaculture where in some groups i e salmonids high protein containing feeds using quality fish meal can account for as much as 40 to 60% of production costs

Agrobiodiversity - a training manual for farmer groups in East Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-06-26 Farmers play a crucial role in the preservation and sustainable use of agrobiodiversity In fact the diversity of species that support our current agricultural production systems has been carefully managed and shaped by farming communities over the course of the history of humankind Farmers act as custodian of the Earth s agrobiodiversity resources and play a big part in preserving traditional plant and animal varieties and the knowledge associated with these FAO has long been working on promoting approaches to agriculture that enable both the sustainable use of biodiversity resources for food and agriculture and their conservation and on supporting farmers to make informed decisions on their farm management and production practices This training manual fits in this broader commitment to support a shift towards a paradigm of agricultural production that can sustain food and nutrition security while at the same time cause the least harm to natural ecosystems The manual is intended as an introduction to agricultural biodiversity and to its relevance to different aspects of agricultural production and management for smallholder farmers in Kenya It includes eight different training modules each covering a specific aspect related to agrobiodiversity The modules are standalone and can be used independently one from the other depending on the user s or project s aim The materials were originally prepared within the FAO Netherlands Partnership Programme FNPP and have been updated revised and published under the second phase of the European Union funded project Capacity building related to multilateral environmental agreements MEAs in Africa Caribbean and Pacific ACP countries
