Power, Legal Education, and Law School Cultures Meera Deo, Mindie Lazarus-Black, Elizabeth Mertz, 2019-10-10 There is a myth that lingers around legal education in many democracies That myth would have us believe that law students are admitted and then succeed based on raw merit and that law schools are neutral settings in which professors also selected and promoted based on merit use their expertise to train those students to become lawyers Based on original empirical research this book investigates this myth from myriad perspectives diverse settings and in different nations revealing that hierarchies of power and cultural norms shape and maintain inequities in legal education Embedded within law school cultures are assumptions that also stymie efforts at reform The book examines hidden pedagogical messages showing how presumptions about theory s relation to practice are refracted through the obfuscating lens of curricula The contributors also tackle questions of class and market as they affect law training Finally this collection examines how structural barriers replicate injustice even within institutions
