Ethnic Cleansing Clotilde Pegorier, 2013-04-12 This book confronts the problem of the legal uncertainty surrounding the definition and classification of ethnic cleansing exploring whether the use of the term ethnic cleansing constitutes a valuable contribution to legal understanding and praxis The premise underlying this book is that acts of ethnic cleansing are first and foremost a criminal issue and must therefore be precisely placed within the context of the international law order In particular it addresses the question of the specificity of the act and its relation to existing categories of international crime exploring the relationship between ethnic cleansing and genocide but also extending to war crimes and crimes against humanity The book goes on to show how the current understanding of ethnic cleansing singularly fails to provide an efficient instrument for identification and argues that the act in having its own distinctive characteristics conditions and exigencies ought to be granted its own classification as a specific independent crime Ethnic Cleansing A Legal Qualification will be of particular interest to students and scholars of International Law and Political Science

National Security Entrepreneurs and the Making of American Foreign Policy
Vincent Boucher, Charles-Philippe David, Karine Prémont, 2020-11-12

Since the advent of the contemporary US national security apparatus in 1947, entrepreneurial public officials have tried to reorient the course of the nation's foreign policy. Acting inside the National Security Council system, some principals and high-ranking officials have worked tirelessly to generate policy change and innovation on the issues they care about. These entrepreneurs attempt to set the foreign policy agenda, frame policy problems and solutions, and orient the decision-making process to convince the president and other decision makers to choose the course they advocate.

In National Security Entrepreneurs and the Making of American Foreign Policy, Vincent Boucher, Charles-Philippe David, and Karine Prémont develop a new concept to study entrepreneurial behaviour among foreign policy advisers and offer the first comprehensive framework of analysis to answer this crucial question: why do some entrepreneurs succeed in guaranteeing the adoption of novel policies while others fail? They explore case studies of attempts to reorient US foreign policy waged by National Security Council entrepreneurs, examining the key factors enabling success and the main forces preventing the adoption of a preferred option: the entrepreneur's profile, presidential leadership, major players involved in the policy formulation and decision-making processes, the national political context, and the presence or absence of significant opportunities.

By carefully analyzing significant diplomatic and military decisions of the Johnson, Nixon, Reagan, and Clinton administrations and offering a preliminary account of contemporary national security entrepreneurship under presidents George W. Bush, Barack Obama, and Donald Trump, this book makes the case for an agent-based explanation of foreign policy change and continuity.
