They Shimmer Within: Cognitive-Evolutionary Perspectives on Visionary Beings Bruce Rimell, 2018-01-19 The use of psychedelic drugs plants is rising and with it the number of reports narrating encounters with otherworldly visionary beings Approaches to these experiences have often been literal archetypal or dismissive Evolutionary psychology and the cognitive science of religion suggest innate and non imagistic mental foundations for these phenomena arising from easily triggered evolutionary functions during emotive periods of high cognitive demand Such functions include agent detection social intelligence faculties and metacognition This wide ranging book explores how our deepest mental processes predispose us as humans to believe in supernatural agents and presents a new hypothesis of how these same cognitions facilitate the emergence of those agents to become present when psychedelic drugs and plants are ingested Bruce concludes that visionary beings shimmer within as awe inspiring products of the mind an experience which rests at the heart of what it is to be human

Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice in Africa J. Jarpa Dawuni, 2022-10-17 Intersectionality and Women's Access to Justice edited by J Jarpa Dawuni propounds layered intersectionality as a paradigm for examining how gendered factors affect women's access to justice whether as judges or litigants Through intersectional and decolonial frameworks the contributors analyze the lived experiences of women and their access to justice by situating the courtroom as both a spatial and a temporal arena for seeking justice as litigants and for seeking access to the bench as judges This book examines patterns of mutually reinforcing discriminatory practices that women share based on common gender identities and depending on which identities are at play at a given point in time in both traditional and statutory courts The book provides recommendations for various justice sector providers

Knowledge Engineering and Knowledge Management Eva Blomqvist, Paolo Ciancarini, Francesco Poggi, Fabio Vitali, 2016-11-12 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 20th International Conference on Knowledge Engineering and Knowledge Management EKAW 2016 held in Bologna Italy in November 2016 The 51 full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 171 submissions The papers cover all aspects of eliciting acquiring modeling and managing knowledge the construction of knowledge intensive systems and services for the Semantic Web knowledge management e business natural language processing intelligent information integration personal digital assistance systems and a variety of other related topics A special focus was on evolving knowledge i.e. the impact of space and time on knowledge representation concerning all aspects of the management and acquisition of knowledge representation of evolving contextual and local models Cape Town Harmonies Armelle Gaulier, Denis-Constant Martin, 2017-07-19 Cape Town's public cultures can only be fully appreciated through recognition of its deep and diverse soundscape. We have to listen to what has made and makes a city. The ear is an integral part of the research tools one needs to get a sense of any city. We have to listen to the sounds that made and make the expansive mother city. Various of its constituent parts sound different from each other. There is the sound of the singing men and their choirs, teams they are called in preparation for the longstanding annual Malay choral competitions. The lyrics from the various repertoires they perform are hardly ever written down. There are texts of the hallowed Dutch songs but these do not circulate easily and widely. Researchers dream of finding lyrics from decades ago, not to mention a few generations ago back to the early 19th century. This work by Denis Constant Martin and Armelle Gaulier provides us with a very useful selection of these songs. More than that, it is a critical sociological reflection of the place of these songs and their performers in the context that have given rise to them and sustains their relevance. It is a necessary work and is a very important scholarly intervention about a rather neglected aspect of the history and present production of music in the city Radio Soundings Elizabeth Gunner, 2019-01-31 Maps an apartheid era Zulu Radio station as it grew to become one of the largest stations in Africa, countering censorship and propaganda Shadow of Liberation Vishnu Padayachee, Robert Van Niekerk, 2019-10-01 Shadow of Liberation explores the intricate twists, turns, contestations and compromises of ANC economic and social policymaking with a focus on the transition era of the 1990s and the early years of democracy. With the damning revelations by the Zondo Commission of Inquiry into State Capture on the massive corruption of the South African body politic, the timing of this book could not be more relevant. South Africans need to confront the economic and social policy choices that the liberation movement made and to see how these decisions may have facilitated the conditions for corruption to emerge and flourish. Answers are needed. Padayachee and van Niekerk focus their attention on the primary question of how and why the ANC, given its historical anti-inequality redistributive stance, came in the 1990s to such a dramatic turn around and move towards an essentially market dominated approach. Were they pushed or did they go willingly? What role, if any, did Western governments and international financial institutions play? And what of the role of the late apartheid state and South African business? Did leaders and comrades sell out the ANC's emancipatory policy vision? Shadow of Liberation tries to provide answers to these questions drawing on the best available primary archival evidence as well as extensive interviews with key protagonists across the political, non-government and business spectrum. The authors argue that the ANC's emancipatory policy agenda was broadly to establish a social democratic welfare state upholding rights of social citizenship. However, its economic policy framework to realise this emancipatory mission was either non-existent or egregiously misguided Radio Soundings Liz Gunner, 2019-01-31 Zulu Radio in South Africa is one of the most far-reaching and influential media in the region currently attracting around 6.67 million listeners daily. While the public and political role of radio is well established, what is less understood is how it has shaped culture by allowing listeners to negotiate modern identities and fast-changing lifestyles. Liz Gunner explores how understandings of the self, family and social roles were shaped through this medium of voice and mediated sound. Radio was the unseen literature of the auditory, the drama of the airwaves and thus became a conduit for many talents squeezed aside by apartheid repression. Besides Winnie Mahlangu and K.E. Masinga among other talents, the exiles Lewis Nkosi and Bloke Modisane made a network of identities and conversations which stretched from the heart of Harlem to the American South, drawing together the threads of activism and creativity from both Black America and the African continent at a critical moment of late empire. African Performance Arts and Political Acts Naomi

Andre, Yolanda Covington-Ward, Jendele Hungbo, 2021-10-28. African Performance Arts and Political Acts presents innovative formulations for how African performance and the arts shape the narratives of cultural history and politics. This collection, edited by Naomi Andre, Yolanda Covington-Ward and Jendele Hungbo, engages with a breadth of African countries and art forms, bringing together speech, hip hop, religious healing and gesture, theater and social justice, opera, radio announcements, protest songs and migrant workers' dances. The spaces include village communities, city landscapes, prisons, urban hostels, Township theaters, opera houses and broadcasts through the airwaves on television and radio as well as in cyberspace. Essays focus on case studies from Cameroon, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Nigeria, Senegal, South Africa and Tanzania.

Environment, Power, and Justice Graeme Wynn, Jane Carruthers, Nancy J. Jacobs, 2022-07-26. Spanning the colonial, postcolonial and postapartheid eras, these historical and locally specific case studies analyze and engage vernacular activist and scholarly efforts to mitigate social environmental inequity. This book highlights the ways poor and vulnerable people in South Africa, Lesotho and Zimbabwe have mobilized against the structural and political forces that deny them a healthy and sustainable environment. Spanning the colonial, postcolonial and postapartheid eras, these studies engage vernacular activist and scholarly efforts to mitigate social environmental inequity. Some chapters track the genealogies of contemporary activism, while others introduce positions, actors and thinkers not previously identified with environmental justice. Addressing health, economic opportunity, agricultural policy and food security, the chapters in this book explore a range of issues and ways of thinking about harm to people and their ecologies. Because environmental justice is often understood as a contemporary phenomenon framed around North American examples, these fresh case studies will enrich both southern African history and global environmental studies. Environment, Power, and Justice expands conceptions of environmental justice and reveals discourses and dynamics that advance both scholarship and social change. Contributors: Christopher Konz, Marc Epprecht, Mary Galvin, Sarah Ives, Admire Mseba, Muchaparara Musemwa, Matthew A. Schnurr, Cherryl Walker. The Negative Existential Cycle Ljuba Veselinova, Arja Hamari, 2022-12-20. In 1991, William Croft suggested that negative existentials, typically lexical expressions that mean 'not exist', 'not have', are one possible source for negation markers and gave his hypothesis the name Negative Existential Cycle NEC It is a variationist model based on cross linguistic data For a good twenty years following its formulation it was cited at face value without ever having been tested by historical comparative data Over the last decade Ljuba Veselinova has worked on testing the model in a comparative perspective and this edited volume further expands on her work The collection presented here features detailed studies of several language families such as Bantu Chadic and Indo European A number of articles focus on the micro variation and attested historical developments within smaller groups and clusters such as Arabic Mandarin and Cantonese and Nanaic Finally variation and historical developments in specific languages are discussed for Ancient Hebrew Ancient Egyptian Moksha Mordvin Uralic Bashkir Turkic Kalmyk Mongolic three Pama Nyungan languages O dam Southern Uto Aztecan and Tacana Takanan Amazonian Bolivia The book is concluded by two chapters devoted to modeling cyclical processes in language change from different theoretical perspectives Key notions discussed throughout the book include affirmative and negative existential constructions the expansion of the latter into verbal negation and subsequently from more specific to more general markers of negation Nominalizations as well as the uses of negative existentials as standalone negative answers figure among the most frequent pathways whereby negative existentials evolve as general negation markers The operation of the Negative Existential Cycle appears partly genealogically conditioned as the cycle is found to iterate regularly within some families but never starts in others as is the case in Bantu In addition other special negation markers such as nominal negators are found to undergo similar processes i e they expand into the verbal domain and thereby develop into more general negation markers The book provides rich information on a specific path of the evolution of negation on cyclical processes in language change and it shows cases the historical comparative method in a modern setting

British Royal Visits and Black Loyalism in Twentieth-century Southern Africa Hilary Sapire, 2024-10-31 Exploring the entwined histories of British royal visits to Southern Africa in the twentieth century this book analyses the clashing voices of dissent and cheering crowds that accompanied royal tours providing insight into the shifting nature of Black loyalism Originating in the Indigenous empire loyalism of eighteenth century Canada Black loyalism encompassed loyalty to the British crown and a shared ideology of rights and entitlements which positioned the crown as a source of protection against white settler rapacity colonial violence and racial oppression However expressions of monarchical devotion were often double edged and addressed the fundamental contradiction of a crown that was both the source of rights and complicit in colonial conquest appropriation and misrule It was on royal occasions such as jubilees coronation celebrations and especially royal visits when the sovereign was literally amongst their more distant subjects that loyalist sentiment was rekindled reinvented and made directly relevant to the concerns of the day By analysing change and continuity in Black perspectives towards both the British and Indigenous African monarchy during these visits this book offers a fruitful way into examining an array of Black Southern African discourses on governance political values and cultural identities across the region It argues that the refashioning of British imperial monarchy in the twentieth century was profoundly shaped by African initiatives and re imaginings and provides valuable reading for those researching imperialism popular attitudes to the British monarchy in the twentieth century and the diverse politics and identities of southern Africa

Disrupting Higher Education Curriculum Michael Anthony Samuel, Rubby Dhunpath, Nyna Amin, 2017-05-10 Discomfort with the inappropriateness of university curricula has met with increasing calls for disruptive actions to revitalise higher education This book conceived to envision an alternative emancipatory curriculum explores the historical ideological philosophical and theoretical domains of higher education curricula The authors acknowledge that universities have been and continue to be complicit in perpetuating cognitive damage through symbolic violence associated with indifference to the pernicious effects of race categorisation gender inequalities poverty rising unemployment and cultural hegemony as they continue to frame curricula cultures and practices The book contemplates the project of undoing cognitive damage offering glimpses to redesign curriculum in the 21st century The contributors international scholars emergent and expert researchers include different nationalities orientations and positionalities constituting an interdisciplinary ensemble which collectively provides a rich commentary on higher education curriculum as we know it and where we think it could be in the future The edited volume is a catalytic tool for disrupting canonised rituals of practice in higher education It has been a while since a scholarly book so authoritative in its claims and innovative in its concepts threatens to shake up the curriculum field at its foundations Rich in metaphor and meaning the superbly written chapters challenge a field that once more became moribund as we settled sic far too comfortably into accepting handed down frames and fictions about knowledge authority power and agency that imprint cognitive damage on those forced to the margins of schools and universities Disrupting Higher Education Curriculum demonstrates however that it is in fact from those margins of the education enterprise that academics teachers and learners can see more clearly how patterns of thought and action hold us back from placing and experiencing our African humanity at the centre of the curriculum Jonathan Jansen Rector and Vice Chancellor of the University of the Free State South Africa

Interfaces of Morphology Holden Härtl, 2015-03-03 Das morphologische System als eine zentrale Komponente der menschlichen Sprachfähigkeit organisiert eine Reihe strukturbildender Operationen und ist eng mit lexikalischer Produktivität als einer Kerneigenschaft von Sprache verknüpft. Eine klassische Domäne ist die Wortbildung, die die Erzeugung lexikalischer Einheiten leistet und damit maßgeblich an der Prägung neuer sprachlicher Konzepte und deren Speicherung beteiligt ist. Heftig diskutiert wird der Status von Morphologie in der Grammatik Einen Kernpunkt bildet dabei die Frage nach der Autonomie morphologischer Prozesse und vor allem ob Wortbildungsmechanismen nicht syntaktischen oder semantisch konzeptuellen Ebenen des Sprachsystems zuzuschlagen sind Ist es sinnvoll von einem separaten morphologischen System auszugehen angesichts dessen dass viele Mechanismen die man traditionell der Morphologie zurechnet systematisch Pendanten in anderen Komponenten des Sprachsystems aufweisen etwa in der Syntax oder der Phonologie Diese Fragen bilden den Hintergrund für den vorliegenden Band der eine Lücke in der Forschung zum Thema füllt indem er unterschiedliche an morphologische Bereiche angelagerte Untersuchungen zu sammelt Im Vordergrund stehen dabei Ansätze welche die Wechselbeziehungen unterschiedlicher grammatischer und nicht sprachlicher Informationen im Allgemeinen und solche bei der Bildung oder Modifikation von Wörtern und lexikalischen Einheiten im Speziellen thematisieren Aus einem breit gefächerten disziplinären Spektrum werden morpho syntaktische semantische phonologische und textliche Aspekte beleuchtet um so unter Berücksichtigung ganz unterschiedlicher Gesichtspunkte aus den verschiedenen Bereichen der systemtheoretischen und kognitionswissenschaftlichen Linguistik Computer linguistik und Literaturwissenschaft zur Erforschung der Grundlage lexikalischer Kreativität und Flexibilität beizutragen The morphological system as a core component of the language faculty organizes a number of structure building operations and constitutes the basis of lexical productivity as a central trait of human language Here word formation represents a classical domain which decisively participates in the creation and memorization of novel concepts What is hotly discussed is the status of morphology The debate centers around questions about the autonomy of morphological processes and in particular if word formation could in fact be fused with syntactic or semantic conceptual levels of the language system Is it reasonable to postulate a separate morphological system in view of the fact that several mechanisms which are traditionally regarded as morphological are systematically mirrored in other components of the language system such as e.g. syntax or phonology Against this background the current volume fills a critical gap in the research on this topic as it brings together various perspectives on interfacing areas of morphology The approaches focus on the interplay between different types of grammatical and non linguistic information in general as well as on the formation and modification of words and lexical units Morpho syntactic semantic phonological as well as textual aspects are examined from a broad disciplinary spectrum in order to contribute to an investigation of lexical creativity and flexibility from perspectives of system theoretical and cognitive scientific linguistics as well as computer linguistics and literary science
