MEMS Sensors and Resonators Frederic Nabki, 2020-05-27 Microelectromechanical systems MEMS have had a profound impact on a wide range of applications. The degree of miniaturization made possible by MEMS technology has significantly improved the functionalities of many systems and the performance of MEMS has steadily improved as its uses augment. Notably, MEMS sensors have been prevalent in motion sensing applications for decades and the sensing mechanisms leveraged by MEMS have been continuously extended to applications spanning the detection of gases, magnetic fields, electromagnetic radiation, and more. In parallel, MEMS resonators have become an emerging field of MEMS and affected subfields such as electronic timing and filtering and energy harvesting. They have, in addition, enabled a wide range of resonant sensors. For many years now, MEMS have been the basis of various industrial successes, often building on novel academic research. Accordingly, this Special Issue explores many research innovations in MEMS sensors and resonators from biomedical applications to energy harvesting, gas sensing, resonant sensing, and timing.

Adapt and Be Adept Terry L. Anderson, 2021-04-01 How can markets help us adapt to the challenges of climate change? Editor Terry L. Anderson brings together this collection of essays featuring the work of nine leading policy analysts who argue that market forces are just as important as government regulation in shaping climate policy and should be at the heart of our response to helping societies adapt to climate change. Anderson notes in his introduction that most current climate policies, such as the Paris Agreement, require hard-to-enforce collective action and focus on reducing or mitigating greenhouse gases rather than adapting to their negative effects. Adaptive actions can typically deliver much more faster and more cheaply than any realistic climate policy. The authors tackle a range of issues: the hidden costs of renewable energy sources, the political obstacles surrounding climate change policy, insurance and financial instruments for pricing risk of exposure to the effects of climate change, and more. Reliance on emerging renewable energies and a carbon tax are not enough to prevent the effects of global warming, they argue. We must encourage more private action and market incentives to adapt to a rapidly changing climate.

Material World Ed Conway, 2025-06-10 THE NEW YORK TIMES BOOK REVIEW EDITORS CHOICE AN ECONOMIST BEST BOOK OF THE YEAR Finalist for the Financial Times and Schroders Business Book of the Year Award Sand, salt, iron, copper, oil, and lithium. These fundamental materials have created empires, razed civilizations, and fed our ingenuity and our greed for thousands of years. Without them, our modern world would not exist, and the battle to control them will determine our future. The fiber optic cables that weave the World Wide Web, the copper veins of our electric grid, the silicon chips and lithium batteries that power our phones and cars: though it can feel like we now live in a weightless world of information, what Ed Conway calls the ethereal world, our twenty-first century lives are still very much rooted in the material. In fact, we dug more stuff out of the earth in 2017 than in all of human history before 1950. For every ton of fossil fuels we extract, six tons of other materials, from sand to stone to wood to metal. And in Material World, Conway embarks on an epic journey across continents.

cultures and epochs to reveal the underpinnings of modern life on Earth traveling from the sweltering depths of the deepest mine in Europe to spotless silicon chip factories in Taiwan to the eerie green pools where lithium originates Material World is a celebration of the humans and the human networks the miraculous processes and the little known companies that combine to turn raw materials into things of wonder This is the story of human civilization from an entirely new perspective the ground up

Rare Earth Frontiers Julie M. Klinger, 2018-01-15 Rare Earth Frontiers is a work of human geography that serves to demystify the powerful elements that make possible the miniaturization of electronics green energy and medical technologies and essential telecommunications and defense systems Julie Michelle Klinger draws attention to the fact that the rare earths we rely on most are as common as copper or lead and this means the implications of their extraction are global Klinger excavates the rich historical origins and ongoing ramifications of the quest to mine rare earths in ever more impossible places Klinger writes about the devastating damage to lives and the environment caused by the exploitation of rare earths She demonstrates in human terms how scarcity myths have been conscripted into diverse geopolitical campaigns that use rare earth mining as a pretext to capture spaces that have historically fallen beyond the grasp of centralized power These include legally and logistically forbidding locations in the Amazon Greenland and Afghanistan and on the Moon Drawing on ethnographic archival and interview data gathered in local languages and offering possible solutions to the problems it documents this book examines the production of the rare earth frontier as a place a concept and a zone of contestation sacrifice and transformation

Ramdhani, Gabriele Weichart, Zakariya Hama, Hilfi Pardi, 2022-01-07 This book is the proceeding of the International Conference on Maritime Education ICOME 2021 that was successfully held on 3-5 November 2021 using an online platform The conference was mainly organized by The Faculty of Teacher Training and Education Universitas Maritim Raja Ali Haji FKIP UMRAH This conference aims to provide a forum for scholars professionals and academics to share their fruitful insights on current issues in education Each participant will get an opportunity to expand their networks and collaborate at the ICOME 2021 The conference's theme is The Reinforcement of Educational System Values and Characters in Maritime Education The number of participants who joined the zoom room was recorded at 296 participants and 30 participants attended the conference directly at the Aston Hotel Tanjungpinang Indonesia The 27 full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 41 submissions The papers reflect the conference sessions as follows teaching methods and approaches testing and evaluation educational management and policy designing syllabus and production of teaching materials teacher training and professional development digital literacy and technology usage for education challenges and barriers in coastal education character education in maritime context curriculum development for maritime context international cross national and domestic forces in the shaping of educational ideologies educational systems and patterns of teaching and learning Autoimmuno-Anti-Tumour Immunity (AATI) - Understanding the Immune Responses against "Self" & "Altered-self" Fang-Ping Huang, 2017-05-16 The brief description of tumours being wounds that do not heal by Dr Harold F Dworak nearly three decades ago N Engl J Med 1986 has provided not only a vivid illustration of neoplastic diseases in general but also in retrospect conceptually a plausible immunological definition of cancers Based on our current understanding in the field it could have even a multi dimensional meaning attached with This relates to several important issues which need to be addressed further i e in terms of a close link between chronic inflammation and tumourigenesis widely observed clinical and experimental evidence of immunity against tumours versus the highly immunosuppressive tumour microenvironment being associated and their underlying immunological mechanisms oncogenic basis as well as the true causal relationship in question Recent findings from studies into the pathogenesis of autoimmunity and more importantly the mechanisms which protect against it have offered some new insights for our understanding in this direction Chronic or persistent autoimmune like inflammatory conditions are evidently associated with tumor development The important question is about their true causal relationship Chronic or persistent inflammation has been shown to contribute directly to tumour development by triggering neoplastic transformation and production of inflammatory mediators which could promote cancer cell survival proliferation and invasion On the other hand tumours are mutated self tissue cells to which the host immune system is largely tolerized otherwise Although the mutations may give rise to the expression of tumour specific antigens TSA or tumour associated antigens TAA most of these TSAs TAAs are found to be poor immunogens The ongoing inflammatory conditions may therefore reflect a desperate attempt of the host immune system to mount anti tumour responses though ineffectively being a consequence of the continuous yet largely futile triggering by those poorly immunogenic TSAs TAAs Furthermore during autoimmune or overtly persistent immunological responses many regulatory mechanisms are triggered in the host in attempts to limit the ongoing harmful inflammatory reactions Such a negative feedback regulation is known to be crucial in preventing normal individuals from immune mediated diseases As a result of the negative feedback loop however an excessive production of anti inflammatory or immunosuppressive molecules followed by the exhaustion of the immune effector cells may instead lower the ability of the host immune system to mount specific anti tumor responses allowing the escape of tumour or mutated cells from immunosurveillance This may also help to explain why the most effective way to enhance host immunity against cancer is by targeting the negative arm of immune regulation In this Frontiers Research Topic we aim to gather current views from experts in these inherent overlapping fields of oncology autoimmunity and tumour immunology and to make them available to our potential readership who may be particularly interested in this cutting edge area By understanding how the immune system is normally regulated why dysregulation of which may cause the immunological oncological related diseases we also encourage further discussions as to how the so called self reactivity autoimmune responses can be alternatively switched on and redirected immunologically or molecularly for effective cancer treatment
