concerning educational research at national and international levels. Importantly in a period marked by radical change for education research and researchers the book offers a timely appraisal of possible ways forward for geography education research. Addressing the needs of academics, research students, policymakers and education practitioners who undertake use or shape the future of research in geography education, it comprehensively explores the forces that have driven the development of geography education research and pedagogy. Further by positioning its analysis in the context of education policy debates in the UK and further afield, it assesses the role and function of research in education and offers an outlook on its future. This book is essential reading for all those who wish to understand the sporadic and increasingly uncertain development of subject based research in education.

Creating Stellar Lessons with Digital Tools Kenneth J. Luterbach, 2022-05-12 Creating Stellar Lessons with Digital Tools prepares teachers in training and in-service teachers to use technologies for design and development activities with middle and high school students. While software, open resources, handheld devices, and other tools hold great potential to enhance learning experiences, teachers themselves must model technology use in ways that inspire students to become producers and leaders rather than consumers and followers. Featuring concrete applications in social studies, English, mathematics, and science scenarios, this book provides pre-service and in-service teachers with seven paths to creatively integrate and innovate with computational thinking, datasets, maker spaces, visual design, media editing, and other approaches.
