

WHAT IS MOTIVATION?

Motivation is that internal energy that drives us to act and pursue our goals and objectives.

It's like an emotional impulse that encourages us to strive, persist, and overcome obstacles in pursuit of what we desire.

Motivation can arise from different sources, such as the desire for success, passion for something that excites us, or the pursuit of personal satisfaction.

When we are motivated, we find purpose and meaning in our actions, and we feel inspired to give our best. Motivation helps us overcome procrastination and propels us towards achievement and personal growth.

Organizational Behaviour In Construction Anthony Walker,2011-06-20 The core of all successful organizations is the effectiveness with which people work together Individuals have differing characteristics and personalities and the manner in which they interact is the key to meeting organizational objectives This is the case for all organizations but particularly so in construction which is distinctly different from other industries Construction is complex and highly differentiated with a wide range of specialists with disparate professional skills working in a highly integrated way to deliver projects successfully Understanding how the people involved in construction behave and work together is necessary for projects to have successful outcomes Organizational behaviour is an established field in mainstream management literature but general treatments cannot reflect the specific issues and idiosyncrasies of the construction industry and the people who inhabit it Organizational Behaviour in Construction addresses the behaviour of individuals and groups within the different organizations which come together on construction projects and within the organizations created to manage projects It describes how their behaviour impacts on the performance of construction organizations and their contribution to the project as a whole Drawing on mainstream organizational literature but putting it into the specific context of construction and containing many illustrations drawn from the industry this book will be required reading for all senior undergraduate and postgraduate students of construction as well as middle and senior management in the industry

The Grasp That Reaches beyond the Grave Venetria K. Patton, 2013-01-01 Explores black women writers treatment of the ancestor figure The Grasp That Reaches beyond the Grave investigates the treatment of the ancestor figure in Toni Cade Bambara's The Salt Eaters Paule Marshall's Praisesong for the Widow Phyllis Alesia Perry's Stigmata and A Sunday in June Toni Morrison's Beloved Tananarive Due's The Between and Julie Dash's film Daughters of the Dust in order to understand how they draw on African cosmology and the interrelationship of ancestors elders and children to promote healing within the African American community Venetria K Patton suggests that the experience of slavery with its concomitant view of black women as natively dead has impacted African American women writers emphasis on elders and ancestors as they seek means to counteract notions of black women as somehow disconnected from the progeny of their wombs This misperception is in part addressed via a rich kinship system which includes the living and the dead Patton notes an uncanny connection between depictions of elder ancestor and child figures in these texts and Kongo cosmology These references suggest that these works are examples of Africanisms or African retentions which continue to impact African American culture
