Studies in Semitic Grammaticalization Aaron D. Rubin, 2018-08-14 This groundbreaking study examines the historical development of the Semitic languages from the point of view of grammaticalization the linguistic process whereby lexical items and constructions lose their lexical meaning and serve grammatical functions The author first provides an introduction to this process followed by a comprehensive overview with abundant examples from ancient and modern languages of how it is exemplified in Semitic Three successive chapters are devoted to in depth studies of specific cases of grammaticalization the definite article in Central Semitic direct object markers across Semitic and present tense prefixes in modern Arabic and Aramaic dialects Drawing on evidence from many non Semitic languages from recent developments in the field of historical linguistics and from traditional comparative Semitics this book represents a major contribution to the field of comparative Semitics

Collection of pamphlets on Greek literature , 1929 Isaac of Antioch Adam H. Becker, 2024-10-11 This volume offers a critical edition and annotated translation of twenty metrical homilies attributed to Isaac of Antioch a late fifth century CE Syriac poet The works in this collection the majority of which are examples of the Syriac rebuke genre are aimed at the moral reformation of the Syrian Christian community The introduction which provides the first detailed study of the manuscript tradition of the corpus as a whole identifies four different Isaacs whose writings were intermingled already in late antiquity and develops criteria for distinguishing among their works Scholars and students of church history will find this a valuable resource for the study of Syriac poetry and homiletics Christian ideas of moral reform and late antique monastic and lay devotional culture
