and “Natives” Svetlana Gorshenina, Philippe Bornet, Michel E. Fuchs, Claude Rapin, 2019-10-08 The book focuses on the relational dynamic between masters and natives in the construction of scholarly narratives about the past in the fields of archeology history or the study of religions Reconsidering the role of subaltern actors that recent postcolonial studies have tended to ignore the present book emphasizes the complex relations between representatives of the imperial power and local actors and analyzes how masters and natives and their respective cultures have shaped each other in the course of the interaction Through various vectors of intercultural transfer and knowledge exchange through the circulation of ideas techniques and human beings new visions of the past of extra European regions emerged as did collective memories resulting from various kinds of appropriations In this framework the most important question is how these dynamic processes determined collective memories of the past in plural post colonial in particular Asian worlds participating to the construction of national imperial local identities and to the reinvention of traditions From Temple to Museum Salila

Kulshreshtha, 2017-10-05 Religious icons have been a contested terrain across the world Their implications and understanding travel further than the artistic or the aesthetic and inform contemporary preoccupations This book traces the lives of religious sculptures beyond the moment of their creation It lays bare their purpose and evolution by contextualising them in their original architectural or ritual setting while also following their displacement The work examines how these images may have moved during different spates of temple renovation and acquired new identities by being relocated either within sacred precincts or in private collections and museums art markets or even desecrated and lost The book highlights contentious issues in Indian archaeology such as renegotiating identities of religious images reuse and sharing of sacred space by adherents of different faiths rebuilding of temples and consequent reinvention of these sites The author also engages with postcolonial debates surrounding history writing and knowledge creation in British India and how colonial archaeology archival practices official surveys and institutionalisation of museums has influenced the current understanding of religion sacred space and religious icons In doing so it bridges the historiographical divide between the ancient and the modern as well as socio religious practices and their institutional memory and preservation Drawn from a wide ranging and interdisciplinary study of religious sculptures classical texts colonial archival records British travelogues official correspondences and fieldwork the book will interest scholars and researchers of history archaeology religion art history
