6. The three sets of lines again seem to be concurrent.
7. Example figures:

8. As long as the line segments in the original figure consist of two parallel (or concurrent) sets, the three sets of lines seem to be concurrent. Otherwise, they do not.

In the problems about the constellations, it is interesting to realize that, although the stars that form them give the illusion of being both coplanar and close together, they are certainly not coplanar and not necessarily near one another. The angles that are measured in the exercises are merely the angles between the lines in our map of the sky and not the actual angles between the lines in space.
