Nineteenth-Century French Song Barbara Meister, 1998-04-22 Song by song this comprehensive study addresses each composer's complete works for solo voice and piano When necessary errors in popular published editions are pointed out and corrected For each song the full French text is given followed by Barbara Meister's translation Page 4 of cover Selected Poems of Léopold Sédar Senghor Abiola Irele, 1977-09-01 Gabriel Fauré: The Songs and their Poets Graham Johnson, 2017-07-05 The career of Gabriel Fauré's a composer of songs for voice and piano traverses six decades 1862 1921 almost the whole history of French music is contained within these parameters In the 1860s Fauré the lifelong protégé of Camille Saint-Saëns was a suavely precocious student he was part of Pauline Viardot's circle in the 1870s and he nearly married her daughter Pointed in the direction of symbolist poetry by Robert de Montesquiou in 1886 Fauré as the favoured composer from the early 1890s of Winnaretta Singer later Princesse de Polignac and his songs were revered by Marcel Proust In 1905 he became director of the Paris Conservatoire and he composed his most profound music in old age His existence steadily productive and outwardly imperturbable was undermined by self-doubt an unhappy marriage and a tragic loss of hearing In this detailed study Graham Johnson places the vocal music within twin contexts Fauré's own life story and the parallel lives of his many poets We encounter such giants as Charles Baudelaire and Paul Verlaine the patrician Leconte de Lisle the forgotten Armand Silvestre and the Belgian symbolist Charles Van Lerberghe The chronological range of the narrative encompasses Fauré's first poet Victor Hugo who railed against Napoleon III in the 1850s and the last Jean de La Ville de Mirmont killed in action in the First World War In this comprehensive and richly illustrated study each of Fauré's 109 songs receives a separate commentary Additional chapters for the student singer and serious music lover discuss interpretation and performance in both aesthetical and practical terms Richard Stokes provides parallel English translations of the original French texts In the twenty-first century musical modernity is evaluated differently from the way it was assessed thirty years ago Fauré's no longer merely a Master of Charms circumscribed by the belle époque His status as a great composer of timeless

The Sound of Poetry / The Poetry of Sound Marjorie Perloff, Craig Dworkin, 2009-10-15 Sound one of the central elements of poetry finds itself all but ignored in the current discourse on lyric forms The essays collected here by Marjorie Perloff and Craig Dworkin break that critical silence to readdress some of the fundamental connections between poetry and sound connections that go far beyond traditional metrical studies Ranging from medieval Latin lyrics to a cyborg opera sixteenth-century France to twentieth-century Brazil romantic ballads to the contemporary avant-garde the contributors to The Sound of Poetry: The Poetry of Sound explore such subjects as the translatability of lyric sound the historical and cultural roles of rhyme the role of sound repetition in novelistic prose the connections between sound poetry and music between the visual and the auditory the role of the body in performance and the impact of recording technologies on the lyric voice Along the way the essays stake out the ensemble discords of Maurice Scève's Dieux Ezra Pound's use of Chinese whispers the alchemical theology of Hugo Ball's Dada performances Jean Cocteau's modernist radiophonics and an intercultural account of the poetry reading as a kind of dubbing A genuinely comparatist study The Sound of Poetry: The Poetry of Sound is designed to challenge current preconceptions about what Susan Howe has called articulations of sound forms in time as they have transformed the expanded poetic field of the twenty-first century Claude Debussy and the Poets Arthur

Wenk, 1976-01-01 Paul Dukas wrote about Debussy that the strongest influence he experienced was that of the poets not that of the musicians This book undertakes to demonstrate that thesis by studying Debussy's settings of songs by Banville Verlaine Baudelaire Mallarmé and Debussy himself A particular insight may be gained in the comparison of six poems by Verlaine set to music by both Fauré and Debussy The book includes a poetic musical analysis of Debussy's Prelude to the Afternoon of a Faun based on the poem by Mallarmé The Tuning of the Word David Michael Hertz, 1987 David Michael Hertz explicates the relationship between the music and poetry of the Symbolist movement tracing it from its inception in Baudelaire's verse and Wagner's music to its final transformation into Modernism in the works of Schoenberg Hertz begins by examining the concept of the period the well-rounded phrase of verse or music which was attacked first in Wagner's use of the leitmotif and unusual intervals such as the tritone Such musical elements created a feeling of emotion directly expressed unhampered by convention This approach was further developed by Mallarmé who stripped his verse of its conventional framework in an attempt to create images of pure emotion Mallarmé in turn influenced Debussy Hertz shows that in setting Mallarmé's verse Debussy moved further away from the standard harmonic structures of the nineteenth century particularly in his use of tonal ambiguity Hertz explores the aesthetic of the Symbolist movement as embodied in the unique forms that characterized the era the tone poem and the lyric play He demonstrates the particular importance of Maeterlinck's Pelléas et Mélisande which was scored by Debussy A revolutionary work difficult to characterize it speaks gracefully of the transformation of Romanticism into Modernism Citing examples of art literature and music Hertz finds ultimately that the Symbolist aesthetic came to encompass the entire artistic world Only a scholar thoroughly at home in both the literary and musical realms and possessing a sovereign command of the cultural climate and currents of the period would be able to deliver exactly what his subtitle promises a musical literary poetics of the Symbolist movement

See You in the Dark Lynne Sharon Schwartz, 2012-01-30 An acclaimed novelist essayist memoirist and translator Lynne Sharon Schwartz has written that she began writing before she knew about the strictures of literary genres poem story essay What she wrote as a child was poetic speculation partaking of all the genres and bounded by none It is not surprising then that her facility with and love of language and speculation are on display in her new collection of poetry See You in the Dark Despite her indifference to genre Schwartz takes a profound delight in poetic forms appropriating the sonnet the prose poem and the envoi She brings an easygoing musicality to her work which ranges from parodic translations of Verlaine to instructions for making the perfect soup to a meditation on an Ecstasy trip No artificial line between high and low culture divides Schwartz's world she is equally intrigued by the metaphor of gardening the work of artist Jenny Holzer the bandits Frank and Jesse James maybe distant relatives of Henry and William and the unintentional poetry of Craigslist's missed connection section Filled with wisdom humor and deep insight See You in the Dark is poetry for readers not bounded by genre

Poetry and the Fate of the Senses Susan Stewart, 2002-01-20 What is the role of the senses in the creation and reception of poetry How does poetry carry on the long tradition of making experience and suffering understood by others With Poetry and the Fate of the Senses Susan Stewart traces the path of the aesthetic in search of an explanation for the role of poetry in culture Herself an acclaimed poet Stewart not only brings the intelligence of a critic to the question of poetry but the insight of a practitioner as well Her new study includes close discussions of poems by Stevens Hopkins Keats Hardy Bishop and Traherne of the sense of vertigo in Baroque and Romantic works and of the rich tradition of nocturnes in visual musical and verbal art Ultimately she argues that poetry can counter the denigration of the senses in contemporary life and can expand our imagination of the range of human expression Poetry and the Fate of the Senses won the 2004 Truman Capote Award for Literary Criticism in Memory of Newton Arvin administered for the Truman Capote Estate by the University of Iowa Writers Workshop It also won the Phi Beta Kappa Society's 2002 Christian Gauss Award for Literary Criticism

The Poet's Freedom Susan Stewart, 2011-10-11 Why do we need new art How free is the artist in making And why is the artist and particularly the poet a figure of freedom in Western culture The MacArthur Award winning poet and critic Susan Stewart ponders these questions in The Poet's Freedom Through a series of evocative essays she not only argues that freedom is necessary to making and is itself something made but also shows how artists give rules to their practices and model a self-determination that might serve in other spheres of work Stewart traces the ideas of freedom and making through insightful readings of an array of Western philosophers and poets Plato Homer Marx Heidegger Arendt Dante and Coleridge are among her key sources She begins by considering the theme of making in the Hebrew Scriptures examining their account of a god who creates the world and leaves humans free to rearrange and reform the materials of nature She goes on to follow the force of moods sounds rhythms images metrical rules rhetorical traditions the traps of the passions and the nature of language in the cycle of making and remaking Throughout the book she weaves the insight that the freedom to reverse any act of artistic making is as essential as the freedom to create A book about the pleasures of making and thinking as means of life The Poet's Freedom explores and celebrates the freedom of artists who working under finite conditions make considered choices and shape surprising consequences This engaging and beautifully written notebook on making will attract anyone interested in the creation of art and literature

What is Art? graf Leo Tolstoy,1996-01-01 Maude's excellent translation of Tolstoy's treatise on the emotionalist theory of art was the first unexpurgated version of the work to appear in any languages More than ninety years later this work remains as Vincent Tomas observed one of the most rigorous attacks on formalism and on the doctrine of art for art's sake ever written Tomas's Introduction makes this the edition of choice for students of aesthetics and anyone with philosophical interests

European Romanticism Stephen Prickett,2014-04-14 Romanticism was always culturally diverse Though English language anthologies have previously tended to see Romanticism as predominantly British the term itself actually originated in Germany where it became the banner of a Europe wide movement involving the profound intellectual and aesthetic changes which we now associate with modernity This anthology is the first to place British Romanticism within a comprehensive and multi lingual European context showing how ideas and writers interconnected across national and linguistic boundaries By reprinting everything in the original languages together with an English translation of all non English material in parallel on the opposite page it offers a new intellectual map of Romanticism Material is thematically arranged as follows Art Aesthetics The Self History Language Hermeneutics Theology Nature The Exotic Science While focusing on European texts the inclusion of essays on their North American and Japanese reception means that Romanticism can be seen as a global phenomenon influencing a surprising number of the ways in which the modern world sees itself

Collected Poems Stéphane Mallarmé,2011-01-15 In this classic tale Richard Kim paints seven vivid scenes from a boyhood and early adolescence in Korea at the height of the Japanese occupation 1932 to 1945 Taking its title from the grim fact that the occupiers forced the Koreans to renounce their own names and adopt Japanese names instead the book follows one Korean family through the Japanese occupation to the surrender of the Japanese empire Lost Names is at once a loving memory of family and a vivid portrayal of life in a time of anguish

Courtly Song in Late Sixteenth-Century France Jeanice Brooks, 2020-04-23 In the late sixteenth century the French royal court was mobile To distinguish itself from the rest of society it depended more on its cultural practices and attitudes than on the royal and aristocratic palaces it inhabited Using courtly song or the air de cour as a window Jeanice Brooks offers an unprecedented look into the culture of this itinerant institution Brooks concentrates on a period in which the court's importance in projecting the symbolic centrality of monarchy was growing rapidly and considers the role of the air in defining patronage hierarchies at court and in enhancing courtly visions of masculine and feminine virtue Her study illuminates the court's relationship to the world beyond its own confines represented first by Italy then by the countryside In addition to the 40 editions of airs de cour printed between 1559 and 1589 Brooks draws on memoirs literary works and iconographic evidence to present a rounded vision of French Renaissance culture The first book length examination of the history of air de cour this work also sheds important new light on a formative moment in French history
