

Level of response marking instructions

Level of response marking schemes are broken down into levels, each of which has a descriptor. The descriptors for the level show the average performance for the level. There are marks in each level.

Before you mark the mark scheme for a student's answer, read through the answer and decide if an instruction is shown for quality that is being marked for. This can then apply the mark scheme.

Step 1: Determine a level

Start at the lowest level of the mark scheme and ask if you are able to see whether the answer meets the descriptor for that level. The descriptors for the level indicate the different qualities that might be seen in the student's answer for that level. If it meets the lowest level then go to the next one and decide if it meets that level, and so on, until you have a level where the level descriptors and the answer, with points and quality, are all that the level requires. You will be able to quality step through the lower levels of the mark scheme.

When assigning a level you should look at the overall quality of the answer and not look to add marks to small and specific parts of the answer. When the student has not performed well in all of the parts of the answer, mark different aspects at different levels of the mark scheme, you should use a mean to approach to setting the level and then use the quality of the response to help decide the mark within the level. As the response is consistently lower in all or most aspects of level it is better to award the lowest level than the descriptor is made up the top of the level because of the level of quality.

Step 2: Determine a mark

Once you have assigned a level you need to decide on the mark. The descriptors for the quality marks can help with this. The quality marks are being demonstrated well. There will be an answer in the corresponding materials which will correspond with each level of the mark scheme. The answer will have been decided on by the user/teacher. You can compare the student's answer with the sample to determine if it is the same standard, better or worse than the sample. You can then use this to allocate a mark for the answer based on the user/teacher's mark on the sample.

The mark will need to represent through the answer so you apply the mark scheme to each point and decide yourself how the level and the mark are appropriate.

Indication points in the mark scheme is provided as a guide for responses. It is not intended to be exhaustive and you must read other instructions. Students do not have to cover all of the points mentioned in the indication points to reach the highest level of the mark scheme.

An answer which contains nothing of relevance to the question must be awarded no marks.
