Landmark Essays on ESL Writing Tony Silva, Paul Kei Matsuda, 2013-10-31 In recent years the number of nonnative speakers of English in colleges and universities in North America has increased dramatically. As a result more and more writing teachers have found themselves working with these English as a Second Language (ESL) students in writing classes that are designed primarily with monolingual native English speaking students in mind. Since the majority of institutions require these students to enroll in writing courses at all levels it is becoming increasingly important for all writing teachers to be aware of the presence and special linguistic and cultural needs of ESL writers. This increase in the ESL population has over the last 40 years been paralleled by a similar growth in research on ESL writing and writing instruction research that writing teachers need to be familiar with in order to work effectively with ESL writers in writing classrooms of all levels and types. Until recently however this body of knowledge has not been very accessible to writing teachers and researchers who do not specialize in second language research and instruction. This volume is an attempt to remedy this problem by providing a sense of how ESL writing scholarship has evolved over the last four decades. It brings together 15 articles that address various issues in second language writing in general and ESL writing in particular. In selecting articles for inclusion the editors tried to take a principled approach. The articles included in this volume have been chosen from a large database of publications in second language writing. The editors looked for works that mirrored the state of the art when they were published and made a conscious effort to represent a wide variety of perspectives, contributions, and issues in the field. To provide a sense of the evolution of the field this collection is arranged in chronological order. Real Essays with Readings with 2009 MLA Update Susan Anker, 2009-06-23 Click here to find out more about the 2009 MLA Updates and the 2010 APA Updates. Real Essays with Readings is the essay level book in Susan Anker's highly successful series of writing texts that motivate students with their message that writing is an essential skill in college and in real life and that this skill is achievable. Anker's advice, examples, and assignments show the relevance of writing to all aspects of students' lives and profiles of former students prove that success is attainable. Like all the books in the Anker series, Real Essays presents writing in logical, manageable increments: step by step writing guides and a focus on the four basics of each mode of writing keep students from becoming overwhelmed. Real Essays maintains its emphasis on what really matters by focusing on the four most serious errors: fragments, run-ons, subject-verb agreement problems, and verb form problems. Real Essays gives students what they need to succeed in college and become stronger academic writers. Writing First with Readings Laurie G. Kirsznér, Stephen R. Mandell, 2005-09-28 Writing First teaches the basics of writing and grammar in the context of students' own writing. Along with a comprehensive treatment of the process of writing paragraphs and essays it helps students develop the fundamental writing skills they need to succeed in college and beyond. By providing students with more help in the areas they most need it, grammar, ESL, and high stakes test taking, the third edition of Writing First better addresses the realities of Automated Essay Scoring Beata Beigman Klebanov,Nitin Madnani,2021-11-12 This book discusses the state of the art of automated essay scoring its challenges and its potential One of the earliest applications of artificial intelligence to language data along with machine translation and speech recognition automated essay scoring has evolved to become both a revenue generating industry and a vast field of research with many subfields and connections to other NLP tasks In this book we review the developments in this field against the backdrop of Elias Page s seminal 1966 paper titled The Imminence of Grading Essays by Computer Part 1 establishes what automated essay scoring is about why it exists where the technology stands and what are some of the main issues In Part 2 the book presents guided exercises to illustrate how one would go about building and evaluating a simple automated scoring system while Part 3 offers readers a survey of the literature on different types of scoring models the aspects of essay quality studied in prior research and the implementation and evaluation of a scoring engine Part 4 offers a broader view of the field inclusive of some neighboring areas and Part ref part5

closes with summary and discussion This book grew out of a week long course on automated evaluation of language production at the North American Summer School for Logic Language and Information NASSLLI attended by advanced undergraduates and early stage graduate students from a variety of disciplines Teachers of natural language processing in particular will find that the book offers a useful foundation for a supplemental module on automated scoring Professionals and students in linguistics applied linguistics educational technology and other related disciplines will also find the material here useful

Assessing Second Language Writing in Academic Contexts Liz Hamp-Lyons, 1991 This is the first volume to focus on the assessment of second language writing The collection as a whole provides coverage of all issues in second language writing assessment starting from the context in which and for which assessment must occur moving through the aspects of decision making and design in a writing assessment program and then considering how the need to evaluate any program on assessment can be carried out After a discussion of issues of public reporting an area which will receive increasing attention in the next few years the volume closes with a discussion of what new issues and answers the future may bring The book reflects the current belief in direct writing assessment in second language writing assessment While it is often expected that those working with ESL students will focus on language error throughout the book themes of needs attitudes ideas and content dominate For second language writers the use of written language to learn to create knowledge and to share ideas and beliefs are vitally important Additionally issues of cross cultural academic literacy practical information on criteria and scoring models for use with ESL writers and research on the efficacy and effects of various assessment models are provided The book blends theory and practice in a way which offers all those who are concerned with the writing skills of nonnative users of English an invaluable resource
