History of International Law · Foundations and Principles of International Law · Sources of International Law · Law of Treaties Sam Stuart,2014-05-12 History of International Law Foundations and Principles of International Law Sources of International Law Law of Treaties Battalion Commanders at War Steven Thomas Barry,2013-05-23 Most histories of the U S Army in World War II view the Mediterranean Theater of Operations primarily as a deadly training ground for very green forces where lessons learned on the beaches of Oran in the hills of the Kasserine Pass area and at the collapse of the Tunis bridgehead all contributed to later success in Western Europe Steven Barry however contends that victory in the MTO would not have materialized without the leadership of battalion level commanders They operated at a high level despite the lack of combat experience for themselves and their troops ineffective leadership at higher levels and deficiencies in equipment organization and mobilization Barry portrays these officers as highly trained adaptable and courageous in their first combat experiences in North Africa and Sicily Their leadership he argues brought discipline maturity experience and the ability to translate common operational guidance into tactical reality and thus contributed significantly to battlefield success in North Africa and Sicily in 1942 1943 To explain how this happened he examines their prewar experiences including professional military education and unit training exercises personal factors such as calmness and physical resilience under fire and the ability to draw upon doctrine creatively apply the resources at their disposal and clearly define and communicate mission goals and means He also reveals how battalion leaders incorporated technological innovations into combined arms maneuvers by employing tank capabilities and close air support doctrine As Barry s assessment shows these battalion commanders were not the sole reason for the Allied triumph in North Africa and Sicily but victory would not have been possible without the special brand of military leadership they exhibited throughout those campaigns Under their leadership even inexperienced units were able to deliver credible combat performance and without the regular army battalion leaders U S units could not have functioned tactically early in the war One of the few studies to focus on tactical adaptation at the battalion level in conventional warfare Barry s book attests to the pivotal value of professional military education and makes an important contribution to today s organizational learning debate while providing an in depth view of adaptation of U S infantry and armored forces in 1942 1943 The Writers Directory ,2013 across the world Climate Change in the Middle East and North Africa William R. Thompson, Leila Zakhirova, 2021-07-04 Environmental factors in the Middle East and North Africa MENA have played a crucial role in the historical and social development of the region The book delves into a broad set of historical literature from the past 15 000 years that neglected to consider environmental factors to their full effect Beyond the broad historic analysis the chapters derive conclusions for today's debate on whether climate change leads to more social conflict and violence Introducing a theoretical framework focused on adaptive cycling this book probes and refines the role of climate in ancient and modern political economic systems in the MENA region It also underscores just how bad the 21st century environment may become thanks to global warming While the MENA region may not survive the latest onslaught of deteriorating climate there is also some interest in how a region that once led the world in introducing all sorts of innovations thousands of years ago has evolved into a contemporary setting characterized by traditional conservatism poverty and incessant strife Emphasizing regional dynamics the book's central question deals with the role of climate change in the rise and decline of the MENA region The book will be a key resource to students and readers interested in global warming including academics and policymakers Alternative Schools Brenda Edgerton Conley, 2002-11-22 An examination of the growth and development of alternative schools in American society and their role in the public school environment In Alternative Schools A Reference Handbook educator Brenda Edgerton Conley surveys the emerging alternatives to our conventional educational system a system that is not only costly but ineffective for many children In a resource aimed at a broad audience school administrators politicians and most important parents Conley offers both a historical and a present day perspective on alternative educational programs What sets the alternative education movement apart she argues is its acknowledgment that we all learn differently That knowledge has given rise to an explosion of exciting alternatives from open schools to home schooling from charter schools to church schools These alternative schools are smaller and less bureaucratic more responsive to the community and more receptive to change Reports from C.R.B. Belgian and American Advanced Fellows, Graduate Fellows, Special Fellows in the United States and Belgium Belgian American Educational Foundation, 1949 Endgame Jerry A. Gladson, 2021-09-02 Daniel the lone apocalyptic book in the Old Testament has challenged readers throughout the centuries with its obscure enigmatic style Endgame offers a careful introduction to Daniel and apocalyptic literature a new formal translation of the Hebrew Aramaic and Greek texts and a verse by verse commentary on the book of Daniel including the Additions made to Daniel in the Deuterocanonical Apocryphal literature In accessible easy to read style this up to date work illuminates the apocalyptic book of Daniel in the light of its ancient literary historical and archaeological setting and shows its vital relevance to ancient and modern readers Engaging with a Legacy: Nehemia Levtzion (1935-2003) E. Ann McDougall, 2014-06-11 Engaging with a Legacy shows how Nehemia Levtzion shaped our understanding of Islam in Africa and influenced successive scholarly generations in their approach to Islamization conversion and fundamentalism The book illuminates his work career and family life including his own life vision on the occasion of his 60th birthday It speaks to his relationship with researchers at home and abroad as mentor colleague and provocateur in one section several authors reflect on those dynamics in terms of personal and professional development Levzion's contemporaries also speak of interactions with him and his life long companion wife Tirza in the 1950s and 1960s we see in these writings the birth of West African historical studies Levzion's arrival as Israeli graduate student in Nkrumah's Egyptian leaning Ghana and the debate over what African Studies should mean in an environment that included the personal intervention of W E B Du Bois are stories told for the first time Most poignant is the account of Levzion's commitment to building African Studies complete with emphasis on Islam in the heart of the Jewish state at The Hebrew University His never ending defence of the program reflected his determination to be both engaged historian and engaged Israeli a legacy he chose for himself Finally an Epilogue to the original publication shows how one aspect this legacy Levzion's growing preoccupation with the public sphere in Muslim societies has become even more relevant in post Arab Spring Africa and the Middle East This book was published as a special issue of the Canadian Journal of African Studies
