roadmap to get there Author James Mueller identifies seven principles of highly effective boards Culture Every board has a culture either by default or intention Culture is the foundation upon which sound governance is built Through rich storytelling observation and advice Mueller explains how to build a solid culture rooted in sound core values Character The time to screen for character is before a board member is seated Too often assumptions are made of a person's character based upon the first impression or just because they are willing to serve on the board Mueller challenges us not to be shy about assessing prospective members' character during recruitment Competence It is vital for a board to genuinely examine the board member competencies it needs to become a highly effective board Mueller shows us how to look beyond business acumen to identify define and seek out competencies that will have a transformative effect on a board's ability to govern Connections When their organizations fail to access the levels of support they need to thrive they often assume that they just need more visibility The deeper truth is that they need to develop a band of believers among a cross section of potential constituencies Mueller describes four types of constituencies from which boards need to recruit in order to develop greater organizational support Composition Building a strong board that embodies the character competence connections and diversity that organizations need to thrive is not a complicated process The approach is straightforward but it takes time and discipline to do it right Mueller walks us through insights he has derived over four decades to help us succeed at building championship boards Continuity Knowledge of how a nonprofit is organized functions and performs over time is critical to sound governance decision making Mueller discusses how board members must understand how their organization is uniquely wired in order for them to make informed decisions especially when the stakes are high Collaboration Collaboration is the mindset that enables us to work together cooperatively to advance the causes we serve whether internally or with other organizations Mueller describes how to cultivate and sustain the collaborative mindset and the benefits it bestows upon organizations that practice it In describing Onboarding Champions international nonprofit governance consultant Steven Bowman writes James Mueller is a masterful executive board member and high level consultant to nonprofit organizations and this shines through in his latest book Onboarding Champions He gets right into the heart of the matter in the first chapter boom creating board culture a topic that is just now starting to find its way into the boardroom James asks incredibly insightful questions throughout the book that can unlock strategic conversations around recruitment selection and onboarding of new directors and provides practical exercises that can give insight into your own situation Should I Become a Board Member? Dorian Dodson, 1993 Nonprofit agencies always need good volunteer board members But many of the people they recruit have no idea what it means to be on a board of directors of a nonprofit agency or what they should consider before joining This straightforward easy to read guide will answer prospective board members' questions help them make the best decision For those who decide to join the book has a comprehensive detailed section on board functions terms important documents responsibilities The guide is a must for anyone considering joining a nonprofit board Designed as the

While new directors learn how to manage and lead museums as part of their professional training and career development the skills and knowledge required to work with boards which are instrumental to a museum director s work must somehow be acquired on the job as one s career progresses What Every Museum Director Should Know about Working with Boards is designed to empower new and aspiring museum directors by equipping them with the skills and knowledge to work with boards What Every Museum Director Should Know about Working with Boards uses museum based vignettes of all too true situations encountered by new museum directors to illustrate what museum directors need to understand about their work with museum boards so that they have the skills and knowledge to identify assess and successfully navigate the common issues they will inevitably encounter as a director Following the vignette analysis of the situation and strategic guidance are offered A new director s understanding of how boards are structured and operate how they will interact with the board and what areas they will work on with the board are all critical to a new museum leader s success However busy new directors often do not have time to access the many widely dispersed resources about working with boards or to ascertain what parts of board operations will most affect their daily work Consequently What Every Museum Director Should Know about Working with Boards outlines how boards are organized discusses the common points of contact between the director and the museum's board and examines the kinds of challenges museum directors will likely encounter in working with their boards Given the importance of museum boards to the success of museums and a director's understanding of boards to their own career development What Every Museum Director Should Know about Working with Boards is an essential resource for new and aspiring museum directors

Strategic Board Recruitment Robert W. Kile, J. Michael Loscavio, 1996 Board recruitment is one of the most important and least understood functions of nonprofit boards The search for new members often involves well intentioned volunteers with little or no recruiting experience contacting well intentioned candidates with little or no board experience Such an approach to board recruitment is too limited in today's competitive nonprofit environment where leadership fund raising diversity and vision are needed more than ever The eight step Strategic Board Recruitment model is based on the systems and techniques used by executive search professionals it has been tailored to guide nonprofits in their ongoing efforts to strengthen their boards This model provides a framework for executing and institutionalizing a results oriented recruitment process

Board Members and Management Consultants Pierre-Yves Gomez, Rickie Moore, 2009-03-01 Boards and Management Consultants the eighth volume in the Research in Management Consulting series explores the growing complexity associated with the growing demands on boards of directors and the challenges raised by evolving expectations of what constitutes good governance As a way of better understanding the ramifications for management consulting particular and timely emphasis is placed on the evolution of expectations and needs in relation to boards and their operation The chapter authors as noted above a truly international group of experts more than succeed in raising the reader's awareness of the consequences that the evolving nature of corporate boards are having on the function of directors how this function is being redefined by the players themselves and what all of this change means for consultants and the realm of management consulting Significant questions are raised and explored throughout the volume from the extent to which these changes will lead to new social moral ethical and professional challenges and opportunities to how the relationships between consultants and their traditional clients managers administrators and employees might evolve As management consultants become more actively involved in governance issues their role will clearly change but will such changes enhance or constrain the role they have traditionally played in organizations
