Anticipation and the control of voluntary action Dorit Wenke, Rico Fischer, A major hallmark in the adaptive control of voluntary action is the ability to anticipate short and long term future events Anticipation in its various forms is an important prerequisite for higher order cognitive abilities such as planning reasoning and the pursuit of both immediate goals and long term goals that may even stand in opposition to immediate desires and needs e g to invest in pension funds Therefore it is not surprising that diverse and rather independent research lines have evolved all somehow targeting various anticipatory capacities that are involved in the control of voluntary action and thus contribute to the uniqueness of human goal directed behavior For example prediction of the incentive value of action outcomes drives goal directed instrumental behavior e g Dickinson Rushworth Prinz 1990 Furthermore the degree of match between intended anticipated and actual action effects has been proposed to be a major determinant of motor programming and online action corrections Jeannerod 1981 motor learning e g Wolpert Diedrichsen e g Abell Happ Los Nobre Coull 2010 and to anticipate conflict e g Correa Rao Nobre 2009 Voluntary action is influenced by the anticipation and prediction of mental effort in task processing e g Song Schwarz 2008 In addition the anticipation of long term future social consequences e g expected aloneness has been shown to affect cognitive mechanisms involved in logic and reasoning e g Baumeister Twenge Nuss 2002 Last but not least learning of statistical contingencies e g conflict frequency leads to the anticipation and prediction of context specific executive control requirements e g Crump Gong Milliken 2006 Dreisbach Haider 2006 The aim of the present Research Topic is to provide a platform that offers the possibility of cross fertilization and enhanced visibility among to date rather segregated research lines
