A Global Assessment of Offshore Mariculture Potential from a Spatial Perspective James M. Kapetsky, José Aguilar-Manjarrez, Jeff Jenness, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2013 This publication was produced in recognition that there is a growing need to increasingly transfer land based coastal aquaculture production systems further offshore as a result of the expected increases in human population competition for access to land and clean water needed to increase the availability of fish and fishery products much needed for human consumption It provides for the first time measures of the status and potential for offshore mariculture development from a spatial perspective that are comprehensive of all maritime nations and comparable among them It also identifies nations that are not yet practicing mariculture that have a high offshore potential The underlying purpose of this document is to stimulate interest for detailed assessments of offshore mariculture potential at national levels

ShakeCast Loren L. Turner, David Jay Wald, Kuo-wan Lin, 2009 Following a major earthquake one of Caltrans most critical tasks is to assess the condition of all potentially impacted bridges and roadway corridors in the state highway system Timely response is important to ensure public safety guide emergency vehicle traffic and re establish critical lifeline routes In the past bridge inspection teams had difficulties setting priorities immediately following an earthquake because they lacked precise information about where the worst shaking and most likely the greatest damage had occurred In 2005 Caltrans initiated a contract with the United States Geological Survey USGS to develop and implement a Caltrans specific version of their ShakeCast system a post event software analysis tool that was anticipated to change the way Caltrans responds following a major earthquake ShakeCast is a web based application that automatically retrieves measured earthquake shaking data analyzes it against individual bridge performance characteristics and generates inspection prioritization emails and other web based products for emergency responders within minutes of an event Benefits have already been realized over the course of the test deployment phase The ShakeCast system has proved to be a valuable tool for post earthquake response for Caltrans during real events as well as for scenario planning exercises
