A Closer Look at Area of Regular Polygons KEY

A regular polygon is a convex polygon in which all sides are congruent and all angles are congruent.

Equilateral triangle
Equiangular triangle

Square

Regular pentagon

Any regular polygon can be divided into overlapping congruent triangular regions. The area of the regular polygon can be found by finding the area of one of the triangular regions and multiplying by the number of sides of the polygon. This method can be proven to reduce to the formula:

$$\text{Area of a regular polygon} = \tfrac{1}{2} a P$$

where P represents the perimeter and a represents the apothem.

The apothem is a segment that extends from the center of a regular polygon perpendicular to a side of the regular polygon. The apothem is also the perpendicular distance from the center of the figure to a side. The apothem bisects a side of the regular polygon. In Figure 1 below, a is the length of the apothem.

The radius is a segment that extends from the center of the regular polygon to a vertex of the polygon. The radius is also the distance from the center of the polygon to a vertex of the polygon. The radius bisects an interior angle of the regular polygon. In Figure 1 below, r is the length of the radius.

Mixtures of special right triangles, $45°\text{-}45°\text{-}90°$ and $30°\text{-}60°\text{-}90°$ and the trigonometric ratios can be used to solve problems involving regular polygons.
