He was an old man who fished alone in a small boat off the coast of Cuba. The boat was no more than eight feet long, and the old man was eighty-four days without taking a fish. In the first forty days, the boat had been with him, but after forty days without a fish, the parents had told the old man was now definitely an unlucky, which is the form of unlucky, boy had gone at their orders in another boat which caught three good fish the first week. It made the boy sad to see the old man come in each day with his skiff empty and he always went down to help him carry either the coiled lines or
