Meaning and Authenticity Cesar Grana, 2023-03-31 This outstanding collection of hitherto unpublished work written over the last fifteen years of the author's life reveals the development and maturation of his ideas about sociology and art and specifically about the relationship between them Grafia sees in the artistic traditions of Western society the sociological sources of our sense of cultural form as well as cultural and intellectual meaning He discusses theories of art and theories of artists as they have changed over time although the book is neither a history of art nor a criticism of specific artistic works Rather it is a defense of the sociology of art Grafia believes that the difficult and ambitious questions in the sociology of art are not merely questions of the proper role or status of the artist or the recognition of art as an ornament perhaps the supreme ornament of our culture He believes that what the sociologist must come to terms with is the view of art as the representation indeed the revelation of what is most telling and pervasive in culture itself This perspective assumes that the most serious claims made for art are in fact inseparable from the unique claims that are made about art Art can make visible what is implicit in our lives Art can put before us a statement of what we are but do not always recognize in ourselves Art is the mask and mimicry through which society gestures to us its ultimate and most poignant meanings Grafia contends that this vision of art derives from Hegelian aesthetics and he believes that this grand view whether one takes an idealist a literary or a Marxist materialist position also implies a dramatically changed conception of society itself The essays cover a variety of subjects from Marx museums and modern literature to Durkheim Daniel Bell and bullfighting the last being the apotheosis of cultural expression rendered into artistic form Throughout Grafia considers questions of the social origins of our artistic and intellectual traditions the influence of these traditions on our ways of thinking about society and their pervasiveness as standards for social meaning

Nationalism and Classicism A. Leoussi,1998-07-08 This is a comparative study of the national significance of the classical revival which marked English and French art during the second half of the nineteenth century It argues that the main focus of artists interest in classical Greece was the body of the Greek athlete It explains this interest first by artists contact with the art of Pheidias and Polycletus which portrayed it and second by the claim made by physical anthropologists that the classical body typified the race of the European nations
