This! Level 1 Student's Book Daphne Mackey, Laurie Blass, Deborah Gordon, 2010-06-24 Read This is a four book reading series designed for adult and young adult ESL students at the high beginning to intermediate levels Commercialisation of Religion in South Africa Mookgo Solomon Kgatle, Jonas Sello Thinane, Chammah J. Kaunda, 2023-11-22 Aspects of the 2017 Final Report of the South African Commission on the Promotion and Protection of the Rights of Cultural Religious and Linguistic Communities CRL have drawn strong criticism particularly from South African scholars politicians and the public The criticism is largely regarding the constitutionality of its recommendation which calls for regulation of the Religion to combat its abuse and commercialization Scholars have criticized the CRL Rights Commission for hastening its investigation and releasing the final report without having a substantive understanding of what is meant by the commercialization of religion and consequently the unconstitutional implications of the recommendation to regulate religion A close reading of this critique has pointed to the urgent need to assemble a cumulative body of research that examines and advances understanding of what is meant by the commercialization of religion Accordingly this book gathers scholarly contributions which offer valuable insights into the basics of what is meant by the commercialization of religion Contributors examine this phenomenon from the historical roots to the manifestation in the contemporary world particularly in South Africa

Kregel, 2017-09-05 A controversy

among economists has raged in the pages of professional journals for the last decade The debate concerns capital theory and distribution theory as well as interpretation of models of long run economic growth This book is an attempt to integrate recent developments in capital theory and show their implications for models of long run economic growth in mature capitalistic countries This book first presents the von Neumann model and outlines its classical approach to the rate of profits and distribution Sraffa's resolution of the value price transformation problem is then presented and compared with Samuelson's Surrogate Production Function With the results of this comparison and the delineation of the special case in which the Surrogate is valid several existing models of growth are set out in two representative groups Neoclassical models form the first group These are defined by their reliance on marginal theory to determine factor prices the rate of profit and therefore distribution via the perfectly differentiable production function Models of Meade Tobin Solow and Samuelson Modigliani are outlined and analyzed for their treatment and distribution and profits theory The second group is comprised of models within the strict Keynesian tradition The basic groundwork of these models as found in the work of Keynes and Kalecki is first cited The Keynesian models are characterized by their assumption that the investment decision is totally independent of savings decisions in the economy The models of Harrod Kaldor Pasinetti and Joan Robinson are presented and their method of approach to the rate of profits and distribution is analyzed The concluding chapter focuses on some criticisms brought against the Keynesian models and offers some generalized formulations to deal with these neoclassical objections General conclusions follow the treatment of each representative group and author
