Brecht and the Art of Spectatorship Laura Bradley, 2025-07-04 Bertolt Brecht's epic theatre sought to change how spectators watched performances equipping them to critique and intervene in the world outside the theatre Taking its cue from his call for theatre to develop the art of spectatorship this major new study explores vision observation and spectatorship in twelve of his plays spanning his career It relates this analysis to Brecht's own formative experiences of spectatorship to his poems and theories and to productions directed by Brecht and his close collaborators Finally it investigates Brecht s attempts to transform the composition of the audience and cultivate critical spectatorship at the Berliner Ensemble the theatre he founded with his wife the actor Helene Weigel in East Berlin after the Second World War Brecht s plays foreground scenarios in which watching matters as characters witness acts of injustice watch trials or punishments engage in surveillance or observe scientific experiments These instances of onstage spectatorship play a key role in Brecht s drive to transform the viewing practices of the theatre audience showing the audience what characters notice what they overlook and how they use or ignore the knowledge that they have gained through spectatorship Drawing on archival material and sources that have previously been rarely consulted Laura Bradley shows how Brecht and his close collaborators Erich Engel Benno Besson Peter Palitzsch and Manfred Wekwerth dealt with onstage spectatorship in performance presenting characters as observers and spectators from whom the theatre audience should learn By combining analysis of text performance and reception Brecht and the Art of Spectatorship provides rich insights into Brecht s plays rehearsal methods and stagings and the experiences of spectators at productions of his plays in the Weimar Republic in exile and in the GDR
