Morris Lapidus Deborah Desilets, 2010 Adored for his exuberant and original architecture more than fifty years of Morris Lapidus's designs are celebrated in this first ever monograph Known for inventing the postwar resort hotel with the Fontainebleau and the Eden Roc in Miami Beach Morris Lapidus 1902-2001 is revered for his joyful interpretation of modernist tenets through an American vernacular of spectacle and whimsy Lapidus enthusiastically embraced modernism's formal freedom and sensuality while rejecting its more rigid principles producing a unique style that seamlessly blends baroque fantasia with modernism's clean lines and flowing spaces His exuberant curving walls zigzagging facades and deft manipulation of space created dramatic forms that transform the moods of their occupants In 2000 Lapidus was honored by the Cooper Hewitt as an American Original an award created especially for him This comprehensive volume presents the highlights of Lapidus's extraordinary career From seductive modern shops and private residences to iconic hotels and residential towers in New York Miami Beach the Caribbean and beyond this iconoclast proves that too much is never enough

Product Description An Architecture of Joy Morris Lapidus, 1979 Morris Lapidus: Architecture of Joy American Federation of Arts, 1970 Graphic Design and Architecture, A 20th Century History Richard Poulin, 2012-11-01 This innovative volume is the first to provide the design student practitioner and educator with an invaluable comprehensive reference of visual and narrative material that illustrates and evaluates the unique and important history surrounding graphic design and architecture Graphic Design and Architecture A 20th Century History closely examines the relationship between typography image symbolism and the built environment by exploring principal themes major technological developments important manufacturers and pioneering designers over the last 100 years It is a complete resource that belongs on every designer's bookshelf From Autos to Architecture David Gartman, 2012-04-17 One of the most interesting questions in architectural history is why modern architecture emerged from the war ravaged regions of central Europe and not the United States whose techniques of mass production and mechanical products so inspired the first generation of modern architects like Le Corbusier Mies van der Rohe and Walter Gropius In From Autos to Architecture sociologist David Gartman offers a critical social history that shows how Fordist mass production and industrial architecture in America influenced European designers to an extent previously not understood Drawing on Marxist economics the Frankfurt School and French sociologist Pierre Bourdieu From Autos to Architecture deftly illustrates the different class structures and struggles of America and Europe Examining architecture in the context of social conflicts From Autos to Architecture offers a critical alternative to standard architectural histories focused on aesthetics alone Ornament and Class Gary Huafan He, 2025-03-13 This groundbreaking study examines the intricate relationship between the rise of the nineteenth century bourgeoisie and the emergence of modern architecture exploring this connection through major intellectual and theoretical works while also analyzing their tangible manifestations in buildings and architectural projects

Contrary to received narratives that describe the birth of modern architecture as primarily an aesthetic movement Ornament and Class argues that the social and political maturation of the European bourgeoisie as a distinct yet heterogeneous group influenced modern attitudes toward architecture at every level Bringing architecture into conversation with recent histories of the bourgeoisie in the social sciences the book considers how architecture was used as a tool to separate the modern bourgeoisie from the aristocratic and clerical forces above and the working classes below It explores how architects clients planners and administrators grappled with and dealt with ornament architecture and modernity from within the new realities of urban and global capitalism and shows how these realities serve as pedagogical touchstones that remain with us today Historians architecture scholars and students interested in modern architecture aesthetics and European history especially those focusing on the interplay between modern architecture and social development will find this book an invaluable resource Morris Lapidus Martina Düttmann, Friederike Schneider, 1992 On Architecture Ada Louise

Huxtable, 2010-07-15 Known for her well reasoned and passionately held beliefs about architecture Ada Louise Huxtable has captivated readers across the country for decades in the process becoming one of the best known critics in the United States Her brilliance over so many years is unmatched and her range has always been vast from a plea to save a particular architectural treasure to an ongoing discussion about whether modern architecture is dead Her keen eye and vivid writing have reinforced to readers how important architecture is and why it continues to be both controversial and fascinating Since so much of her writing has been in newspapers it has quickly become unavailable to her many fans On Architecture will bring together her best work from the New York Times New York Review of Books her more recent essays in the Wall Street Journal and her various books She is personally selecting and organizing the pieces into sections like Art and Culture and The Art of Architecture and is revising them as needed to bring them up to date Whether you love modern architecture or desire a return to Beaux Arts design this book will give you insight into the mind and heart of a critic who has artfully brought the discussion of architecture architects and our environment to readers for five decades Mall Maker M. Jeffrey

Hardwick, 2015-08-18 The shopping mall is both the most visible and the most contentious symbol of American prosperity Despite their convenience malls are routinely criticized for representing much that is wrong in America sprawl conspicuous consumption the loss of regional character and the decline of Mom and Pop stores So ubiquitous are malls that most people would be surprised to learn that they are the brainchild of a single person architect Victor Gruen An immigrant from Austria who fled the Nazis in 1938 Gruen based his idea for the mall on an idealized America the dream of concentrated shops that would benefit the businessperson as well as the consumer and that would foster a sense of shared community Modernist Philip Johnson applauded Gruen for creating a true civic art and architecture that enriched Americans daily lives and for decades he received praise from luminaries such as Lewis Mumford Winthrop Rockefeller and Lady Bird Johnson Yet in the end Gruen returned to Europe thoroughly disillusioned with his American dream In Mall Maker the first biography of this visionary spirit M Jeffrey Hardwick relates Gruen s successes and failures his work at the 1939 World s Fair his makeover of New York s Fifth Avenue boutiques his rejected plans for reworking entire communities such as Fort Worth Texas and his crowning achievement the enclosed shopping mall Throughout Hardwick illuminates the dramatic shifts in American culture during the mid twentieth century notably the rise of suburbia and automobiles the death of downtown and the effect these changes had on American life Gruen championed the redesign of suburbs and cities through giant shopping malls earnestly believing that he was promoting an American ideal the ability to build a community Yet as malls began covering the landscape and downtowns became more depressed Gruen became painfully aware that his dream of overcoming social problems through architecture and commerce was slipping away By the tumultuous year of 1968 it had disappeared Victor Gruen made America depend upon its shopping malls While they did not provide an invigorated sense of community as he had hoped they are enduring monuments to the lure of consumer culture

Modernism in Late-Mao China Ke Song,2023-04-28 This book investigates the architectural history of China in the Mao era 1949 1976 focusing on the rise of modernism in the last seven years of the Cultural Revolution from 1969 to 1976 It highlights the new architecture of this period exemplified by three clusters of buildings for foreign affairs namely buildings for foreign diplomacy in Beijing buildings for foreign trade in Guangzhou and China s foreign aid projects overseas The emergence of new architecture in the early 1970s is closely associated with China s political and diplomatic shift of the time from a radical emphasis on ideological struggle to a dynamic balance between leftist ideology and pragmatic concerns In this context China s relations with the West quickly improved culminating with American president Richard Nixon s visit to China in 1972 The increasing foreign affairs brought new opportunities to Chinese architects who referenced both Western modernism and Chinese architectural traditions to create a new version of Chinese modernism The book brings dimensions of form politics and knowledge to the analysis of architecture to construct an understanding of architectural design as an aesthetic political and intellectual practice Modernism in Late Mao China will be an enriching and useful reference for students and scholars who are interested in the global architectural history of the twentieth century especially Cold War modernism
