Monitoring Education Carol Taylor Fitz-Gibbon, 1996-01-01 In this text the author draws on her experience as creator of the ALIS project A Level Information System a quality monitoring and feedback system in use in many parts of the UK She asks the question how do we get quality into education and uses the positive lessons of ALIS to analyze the requirements of an effective value added monitoring system

Monitoring the Quality of Education in Schools Vanessa Scherman, Roel J. Bosker, Sarah J. Howie, 2016-12-27 The monitoring of quality has been part of the educational landscape for many decades Originally the need to monitor arose as part of an economic process whereby policy makers wanted to discern the return on investment in education This bottom line thinking while still prominent has receded into the background in light of global changes and the emergence of a global economy Now in addition to the question what is the return on investment the more important question is are the students in schools ready to participate in the economy of a 21st century society This is underpinned by the inquiry into what knowledge and competencies are required for students to participate meaningfully in nation building This inquiry can only be undertaken by means of monitoring evaluating where the students are and what is required so that students reach their potential In an ever changing technologically oriented world the manner in which competencies and knowledge are identified and how these need to be measured and identified is important In this book the theory and practice of underpinning the monitoring of the quality of education is described This is followed by a number of practical examples in the form of country case studies on how theory plays out in practice The book further provides common themes across developed and developing emerging economies underscoring the need for approaches which are locally relevant but internationally transferable

Establishing a knowledge base for quality in education: Testing a dynamic theory for education Bert Creemers, Leonidas Kyriakides, Anastasia Panayiotou, Wilfried Bos, Heinz Günter Holtappels, Mic, 2013 Although European policies promote the development of a knowledge based society international comparative studies reveal that large differences exist in the average achievement level and in offering equal opportunities to diverse student populations In this handbook we provide suggestions to schools on establishing an evidence based and theory driven approach to promote quality in education Specifically we offer guidelines to schools on how to establish School Self Evaluation SSE mechanisms measuring the functioning of school factors and identify priorities for improvement By making use of the knowledge base of EER schools are also provided with guidelines on how to develop strategies and action plans to address their improvement priorities Thus the main aim of this handbook is to encourage readers when faced with different challenges problems to uncover and exploit the available knowledge base of EER and to act with flexibility in using the dynamic approach to design implement and evaluate policies and action plans for promoting quality in education
