Ancient Astronomical Observations and the Study of the Moon's Motion (1691-1757) John M. Steele, 2012-02-17 The discovery of a gradual acceleration in the moon's mean motion by Edmond Halley in the last decade of the seventeenth century led to a revival of interest in reports of astronomical observations from antiquity These observations provided the only means to study the moon's secular acceleration as this newly discovered acceleration became known This book contains the first detailed study of the use of ancient and medieval astronomical observations in order to investigate the moon's secular acceleration from its discovery by Halley to the establishment of the magnitude of the acceleration by Richard Dunthorne Tobias Mayer and Jérôme Lalande in the 1740s and 1750s Making extensive use of previously unstudied manuscripts this work shows how different astronomers used the same small body of preserved ancient observations in different ways in their work on the secular acceleration In addition this work looks at the wider context of the study of the moon's secular acceleration including its use in debates of biblical chronology whether the heavens were made up of them and the use of astronomy in determining geographical longitude It also discusses wider issues of the perceptions and knowledge of ancient and medieval astronomy in the early modern period This book will be of interest to historians of astronomy astronomers and historians of the ancient world

Moon Viorel Badescu, 2012-03-22 The Earth has limited material and energy resources Further development of the humanity will require going beyond our planet for mining and use of extraterrestrial mineral resources and search of power sources The exploitation of the natural resources of the Moon is a first natural step in this direction Lunar materials may contribute to the betterment of conditions of people on Earth but they also may be used to establish permanent settlements on the Moon This will allow developing new technologies systems and flight operation techniques to continue space exploration In fact a new branch of human civilization could be established permanently on Moon in the next century But meantime an inventory and proper social assessment of Moon's prospective energy and material resources is required This book investigates the possibilities and limitations of various systems supplying manned bases on Moon with energy and other vital resources The book collects together recent proposals and innovative options and solutions It is a useful source of condensed information for specialists involved in current and impending Moon related activities and a good starting point for young researchers

The Moon and the Western Imagination Scott L. Montgomery, 2022-03-29 The Moon is at once a face with a thousand expressions and the archetypal planet Throughout history it has been gazed upon by people of every culture in every walk of life From early perceptions of the Moon as an abode of divine forces humanity has in turn accepted the mathematized Moon of the Greeks the naturalistic lunar portrait of Jan van Eyck and the telescopic view of Galileo Scott Montgomery has produced a richly detailed analysis of how the Moon has been visualized in Western culture through the ages revealing the faces it has presented to philosophers writers artists and scientists for nearly three millennia To do this he has drawn on a wide array of sources that illustrate mankind's changing concept of the nature and significance of heavenly bodies from classical antiquity to the dawn of modern science Montgomery especially focuses on the seventeenth century when the Moon was first mapped and its features named From literary explorations such as Francis Godwin's Man in the Moone and Cyrano de Bergerac's L'autre monde to Michael Van Langren's textual lunar map and Giambattista Riccioli's Almagestum novum he shows how Renaissance man was moved by the lunar orb how he battled to claim its surface and how he in turn elevated the Moon to a new level in human awareness The effect on human imagination has been cumulative our idea of the Moon and therefore the planets is multilayered and complex having been enriched by associations played out in increasingly complicated harmonies over time We have shifted the way we think about the lunar face from a perfect body to an earthlike one with corresponding changes in verbal and visual expression Ultimately Montgomery suggests our concept of the Moon has never wandered too far from the world we know best the Earth itself And when we finally establish lunar bases and take up some form of residence on the Moon's surface we will not be conquering a New World fresh and mostly unknown but a much older one ripe with history

Gethsemane Moon Jon Scott Birch, 2024-08-20 The Heather Moon Charles Norris Williamson, Alice Muriel (Livingston) Williamson, 1912 The Moon that Wasn't Helge Kragh, 2008-11-06 The planet Venus is the closest neighbour to the Earth and in several respects similar to our globe It revolves around the Sun at an average distance of 0.72 astronomical units in an elliptical orbit of eccentricity 0.007 The corresponding 3 numbers for the Earth are 1 and 0.017 The mean density of Venus is 5.2 g cm⁻³ that of the Earth 5.5 g cm⁻³ Venus acceleration of gravity at its equator is 8.922 m s⁻² compared with 9.8 m s⁻² at the Earth The escape velocity is 10.4 km s⁻¹ while the corresponding figure of the Earth is 11.2 km s⁻¹ Although the mass of Venus is somewhat smaller than that of the Earth the ratio is $M_V/M_E = 0.815$ the diameters of the two planets are almost the same In other words Venus is indeed a sister planet of the Earth In earlier times when almost nothing was known about the physical conditions of Venus the similarity appeared even stronger than today Not only was Venus' period of rotation thought to be close to that of the Earth it was also possible and indeed common to imagine intelligent life on Venus

Mapping of the Moon Zdenek Kopal, R.W. Carder, 2013-04-17 The aim of the present book has been to provide an outline of the first of its kind the history of the human efforts to map the topography of the surface of our satellite from the days of pre-telescopic astronomy up to the present These efforts commenced modestly at the time when the unaided eye was still the only tool at the disposal of men interested in the face of our satellite and were continued since for more than three centuries by a small band of devoted friends of the Moon in several countries Many of these were amateur astronomers and almost all were amateur cartographers though some highly skilled in their art The reader interested in the history of lunar mapping between 1600 and 1960 will find its outline in the first chapter of this book and can follow the way in which the leadership in the mapping of the Moon the cradle of which stood in Italy passed successively to France Germany and eventually to the United States All efforts described in this chapter were wholly superseded by subsequent developments since 1960 largely motivated by logistic needs of a grand effort which culminated with repeated manned landings on the Moon between 1969 and 1972 a feat which will remain for ever one of the glories of our century Rockets and People: The moon race Boris Evseevich Chertok, 2005 What the Moon Saw Hans Christian Andersen, 1866 Polyglot from the Far Side of the Moon Lauren F. Pfister, 2022-03-24

Though recognized in the latter part of the 19th century as the greatest Orientalist in Britain the Geneva born Anglican priest Solomon Caesar Malan 1812-1894 was such an extraordinary person that he has defied any scholarly person to write a critical account of his life and works Consequently almost no one has written anything critically appreciative and insightful about him since his death A polymath with extraordinary talent for languages and sketching among other specialized skills Malan focused much of his life on assessing biblical translations in ancient Middle Eastern and East Asian languages while also producing English translations of alternative expressions of Christianity found in north Africa the Middle East and Asia A life long interest of his was comparing the proverbs of his namesake King Solomon with proverbial wisdom from as many cultures and languages as he could find That interest culminated in a three volume work that enshrined his achievements realized through his capacities as a hyperpolyglot within the context of a search for shared wisdom across many cultures In this volume produced by a team of collaborators from a wide range of scholarly interests and varying expertise we have presented a critically assessed account of the life and key works produced by Solomon Caesar Malan In fact it is the first work of its kind on Malan written since his death now having occurred more than 125 years ago Readers will journey through an itinerary that starts in Geneva before it became part of Switzerland moves to Great Britain and ultimately into one of the colleges in Oxford Subsequently it moves us into an exploration of the journey of his life that involved a huge range of places people and languages starting in Calcutta touching unusual figures from Hungary India and China Those seminal experiences led Malan into studies of languages related to even more distant cultural worlds in Central Southeastern and East Asia The historians among us have delved into Malan's life in Calcutta Geneva and Dorsetshire while others have explored the nature of his hyperpolyglossia and tested the quality of his understanding of ancient literature in classical languages that include Chinese Manchurian Sanskrit and Tibetan Notably Malan's personal library was so unique that when he donated it to his alma mater at Oxford University it became one of the major bibliographic precedents for what is now the Oriental Division in the Bodleian Libraries Yet when one follows the twists and turns of his life's journey and the surprises that occur from documenting the history and content of the Malan Library as well as critically analysing aspects of his opus magnum Original Notes on the Book of Proverbs 1889-1893 we believe both general readers and scholarly specialists will be entranced

Representations of the Moon in Literature and Art Gabriela Gândara Terenas, 2024-10-19 This book brings together a collection of essays on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the arrival of the first man on the moon a time when tourist journeys to the moon now a real possibility were no more than a fantasy Divided into four sections illustrating different perceptions of the moon the common aim of the essays in this book is to examine how mankind's interest in the moon has been represented in Literature and the Arts an objective underpinned by the desire to exploit the relationship between the so called two cultures the Humanities and Science as C P Snow perceived them in his pioneering work 1959 The plethora of ways in which our companion satellite has been portrayed has led the authors of the essays to draw upon research from the history of science as well as from literary cultural and artistic studies In addition to analysing the impact on literature and music of our arrival on the moon whether real or imaginary these studies also examine how writers along the centuries have appropriated the moon as a metaphor in order to project latent conflict criticise the society or politics of their day reflect upon scientific or technological discoveries or fantasise about journeys encounters or imaginary realities

The Sages of Chelm and the Moon Shlomo Abas, 2019-03-30 Welcome to the topsy turvy world of Chelm the city of wise fools celebrated in Jewish folklore According to legend Chelm was populated by preposterously silly townsfolk There are numerous tales of their idiotic exploits and the most famous is the story of the people of Chelm and the moon The people of Chelm have a problem They love to walk the streets at night under the light of the radiant moon But every now and then the moon disappears from the sky and they can't find their way home Perhaps someone is stealing it or maybe it's hiding on purpose Being very clever the wise people of Chelm know exactly what they must do They will buy a brand new moon one that will shine clear and bright every night But will everything go according to plan Shlomo Abbas retells the story with a perfect comic touch and Omer Hoffmann illustrates the tale beautifully For 4-8 year olds
