Moondial Helen Cresswell:

Moondial Helen Cresswell, 1988 Minty is staying with her maiden aunt and discovers that the moondial in the huge house nearby has the power to take her back in time On her time travels she meets two children who are desperately in need of help and she encounters danger and excitement in her bid to rescue them Horrifying Children Lauren Stephenson, Robert Edgar, John Marland, 2024-03-07 Horrifying Children examines weird and eerie children's television and literature via critical analysis memoir and autoethnography There has been an explosion of interest in the impact of children's television and literature of the late twentieth century In particular the 1970s 80s and 90s are seen as decades that shaped a great deal of the contemporary cultural landscape Television of this period dominated the world of childhood entertainment drawing freely upon literature and popular culture like the Garbage Pail Kids and Stranger Things and much of it continues to resonate powerfully with the generation of cultural producers fiction writers screenwriters directors musicians and artists that grew up watching the weird the eerie and the horrific the essence of 21st century Hauntology In these terms this book is not about children's television as it exists now but rather as it features as a facet of memory in the 21st century As such it is the legacy of these television programmes that is at the core of Horrifying Children The haunting of adults by what we have seen on the screen is crucial to the study This collection directly addresses that which scared us in the past inasmuch as there is a correlation between individual and collective cultural memory with some chapters providing an opportunity for situating existing explorations and understandings of Gothic and Horror TV within a hauntological and experiential framework The Tigerboy Ted Hughes, 2016-11-01 A very ordinary boy Nobody noticed him he was just like everyone else But Fred knew he was different He just didn't know quite how different And when he did Well what then Exploited, Empowered, Ephemeral Denise Burkhard, 2023-07-10 Childhood in neo Victorian fiction for both child and adult readers is an extremely multifaceted and fascinating field This book argues that neo Victorian fiction projects multiple competing visions of childhood and suggests that they can be analysed by means of a typology the childhood scale which provides different categories along the lines of power relations and literary possible worlds theory The usefulness of both is exemplified by detailed discussions of Philippa Pearce's Tom's Midnight Garden 1958 Eva Ibbotson's Journey to the River Sea 2001 Sarah Waters' Fingersmith 2002 and Dianne Setterfield's The Thirteenth Tale 2006 Moondial Helen CRESSWELL, 1988
